

AVENGE SINKING OF SHIP U-BOAT SENT TO BOTTOM MEXICO-CUBA TROUBLE UP TWO PENNA. MEN KILLED

American naval forces avenged the torpedoing of the British steamer Inniscarra, reported sunk by a torpedo off the British coast with a loss of 35 men. Official dispatches from London today said that the U-boat was sent to the bottom by a square hit almost immediately after the Inniscarra was sunk. An American destroyer fired the shot.

Washington, May 25.—Fifty-three men, all members of Company B, 58 Infantry, 4th Division, were reported lost in the sinking of the British transport Moldavia, the War Department reported today. Among those lost were Corp. Fred Chappell Philadelphia, and Roy H. Shenk, Lancaster. There were 48 American soldiers on the vessel, part of whom were of the 58th Infantry.

The War Department announced that the number of dead in the Moldavia sinking would be probably less than 50 American soldiers. Fifty-three were reported missing in the first dispatch. The list was not immediately made known.

Dispatches from Amsterdam today reported that 15 German sailors were court-martialed at Ostend as the result of the British blockade successes at Ostend and Zeebrugge. Thirteen of them were executed. The other 2 were given sentences of 20 years imprisonment each.

General Haig's official statement today reported increased artillery activity in the Stazelle sector. The German lines near Lens and Kemmel were bombarded by the British, 2 machine guns and 50 prisoners were taken. United Press dispatches from the Lorraine sector said that negro troops are holding the line in cooperation with French soldiers. American aviators brought down 2 enemy planes on May 21, it was stated.

The War Department's bulletin on western front casualties listed 23 names, of whom 4 died in action, 4 died from wounds, 4 severely wounded, and 8 were slightly wounded. Among them were Tony Kalensky of Bentleyville, Pa., died of wounds; Frank Snyder, of Kingston, Pa., died of wounds.

French villagers paid touching tribute to Major Raoul Lufberry American ace, when they learned of his death. They improvised a chapel and children gathered wild flowers with which they covered the coffin.

The international situation was complicated today by the Mexican-Cuban situation following rumors that Mexico has severed diplomatic relations with that island republic. It was announced today that the State Department had information that the Mexican Charge d'Affairs at Havana had been recalled.

Washington, May 25.—Mexican embassy officials today were endeavoring to clear up reports that Cuba and Mexico had severed diplomatic relations. "I have heard the reports," Senator Igneus Bonillas declared, "but as far as I know no such action has been taken. Some time ago and following the Fabio incident at Havana, diplomatic relations were strained. I don't know what action was taken."

The ambassador is of the opinion that the reports are false.

The Fabio incident referred to was the seizure and searching of the baggage of Fabio, Mexican minister to Argentine, Brazil and Chile while passing through Havana en route to South America. The diplomat's baggage was stolen. Several days later it was found in the streets of Havana intact. It probably had been searched by the thieves. Nothing was taken.

ENTERTAINS SEWING CLUB

The Red Cross solicitors visited the Pyramid mine, near Curwensville yesterday and Manager Pilkington very courteously assisted them in their work with the result that when the last man had been seen they found the mine to be distinctly 100 per cent American regardless of the fact that many of the men employed were natives of foreign climes. Each man contributed $5.00 and the total amount subscribed was $290.

Mrs. Clair Ross entertained her sewing club last evening at her home on Clearfield street. The ladies enjoyed the evening knitting and sewing. During the course of the evening delicious refreshments were served.

Up to the time of his departure for the ship yard Joe Jackson had hit for $369 in 17 games for the White Sox.

ADAMS SCANDAL MAY BE AIRED ONCE MORE

Libellant Makes Plea For New Trial, Claiming Court Was Partial To The Defendant

NEW EVIDENCE IS PROMISED

Brookville, May 24.—Rumblings of what is said here to mark the approach of one of the biggest legal sensations this county has ever had, were heard in court when W. B. Adams, of Punxsutawney, applied for a new trial in the case of W. B. Adams vs. Fannie N. Adams, for divorce.

Judge Reed, Edward A. Caimalt, W. L. McCracken and W. B. Adams appeared for libellant and for a time nobody appeared for the respondent, but upon being sent for, Raymond L. Brown appeared.

Basis of Appeal

Judge Reed presented the plea for the libellant, claiming, among other things, that the court had erred in the former trial of the case in the admission of certain testimony on behalf of the respondent and co-respondents, and in excluding testimony offered by the libellant; that the judge's charge was biased and unfair to the libellant; that the libellant now had much after-discovered testimony, including testimony indicating that Lex N. Mitchell, one of the co-respondents, had stayed all night at a certain hotel with the respondent; that this evidence had but recently come to the libellant and could not have been offered at the former trial.

W. B. Adams, the libellant, continued the argument for nearly one hour at the afternoon session. He called the Court's attention to the fact that in his charge to the jury he had stated the libellant was his only principal witness, whereas the testimony of Lex N. Mitchell, a totally disinterested witness, would establish adultery on the part of the respondent. That the testimony of Martha Bowman, H. H. Fleck, C. L. Palmer, J. H. Thomas, and the written confession of one of the co-respondents, all showed adultery on part of the respondent, and that this testimony was disinterested. And that subsequent to the trial the libellant had discovered other important disinterested testimony, incriminating in its nature, which showed undue intimacy between the respondent and J. A. Walter.

Mr. Adams said, "Either the libellant or the respondent was guilty of perjury, and for this perjury there is no excuse. Either the respondent did or did not admit her relations with these men. She swore she did not. She characterized the libellant's story as a conspiracy. Since the trial it has been discovered that she told a neighbor woman substantially what she told the libellant, and said to this neighbor woman, 'I could have told him more if I had had the nerve.' Now," said Mr. Adams, "who is the perjurer?"

"In the face of all this incriminating testimony," continued Mr. Adams, "you said to the jury that the libellant was his own principal witness, and when we went into the hall, at a recess of Court, we found the respondent going into your chambers, apparently making them her headquarters. Then we learned that her attorneys were meeting, or had met in your office on Main street, the evening before the trial, and lastly we witnessed your conduct at the trial. When I am a litigant, I stay away from the Court. Others ought to do so."

Mr. Brown, the only attorney who appeared for the respondent, spoke for three or four minutes and the argument was closed without the court rendering a decision.

Great interest is manifest here to-day over the next step in the proceedings.

The recent fine work of Walter Johnson gives the gate to the talk about Walter going back. Both in pitching and hitting Washington's great star is performing a John-son.

London, May 22.—Reciting the reasons for decorating Sergt. H. Betts, the Official Gazette says: "Whilst in charge of a platoon he held a position which was very heavily shelled and enflamed by snipers. Locating two of the latter he crawled out in front of the trench and from a very exposed position shot them both with his rifle. On the following evening, under very heavy concentrated shelling, he walked up and down the prados of his trench, encouraging his men and setting them a magnificent example."

CLEARFIELDERS HELP ITALIANS TO CELEBRATE

Our Italian Allies Make Fine Showing In Parade and Hear Wonderful Speechmaking

ITALY'S PART IN THE WAR

The third anniversary of Italy's entrance into the great war for democracy and freedom throughout the world was properly and patriotically celebrated throughout the length and breadth of the allied countries. Following the lead of President Wilson, the people of this great republic of ours joined heartily with our Italian neighbors in fittingly commemorating this momentous event, and the day was given over to celebration and speech making almost from Maine to California or wherever Italians have settled in our American towns and cities.

All were glad to realize and testify to the fact that the war that will surely be won would probably have been lost without the help of Italy. Italy entered the war at a dark hour for the allies, just before the great battle of the Marne. It was a midnight telegram from Italy that enabled the French to withdraw all of their cannon and men from the French-Italian frontier knowing that Italy would hold that frontier inviolate. These men and cannon released from duty on the frontier between France and Italy made possible the victory of the Marne and the stopping of the Hun.

From the declaration of war in the spring of 1915 until the fall of 1917 the Italian armies were almost continually on the offensive. They operated on the most difficult terrain in Europe and surmounted hitherto impassable barriers.

We are sure that any one who has intelligently followed the course of the great world war will not fail to recognize that Italy is entitled to a far greater degree of praise than she has so far received.

Let us all be glad that Italy is at last taking her proper place in the affections and the respect of the American people. Clearfield citizens of Italian birth who have attested their loyalty and patriotism on every occasion and opportunity and who have sent more than thirty young men to the battle front in defense of "Old Glory" and the land of their adoption and some of the fifty-eight into the glorious army of Italy, arranged to celebrate this historic anniversary here in Clearfield.

Under the capable direction of Fred Guarino and Nick Marate plans were quickly made and a most creditable parade arranged. The local authorities and citizens generally were invited to participate and when the parade started at Third and Reed streets at 7:10 o'clock several hundred persons were in line. Mayor Chase, Postmaster Barclay, the same day.

The evening was delightfully spent in playing games and music also furnished entertainment for the guests. At a late hour excellent refreshments were served.

A banner expressing the patriotic sentiment of the Sons of Italy toward America was carried at the head of the procession by two young men and this was followed by the color bearers with big, handsome silk American and Italian flags.

The Clearfield Italian band was led by the magnificent band of the Italian society.

BROOKVILLE LAD NOT KILLED BY YOUNG BOYS

All Evidence Points to Older Person or Persons Having Committed the Crime

BOY SUSPECT IS TAKEN

DuBois, May 24.—George Roberts, a 16-year-old boy who has been attracting the attention of the police of this city the past few days, was taken into custody by Patrolman J. E. Brown last evening in the belief that he might be able to throw some light upon the Brookville trunk murder mystery.

The youth was placed in the lockup and questioned at length, giving the police such a mix up of replies to their questions that they notified Sheriff Mayes, of Brookville, this morning and the Jefferson county authorities arrived here this afternoon and took him into custody.

No convincing evidence has been procured from the boy, but it is said that he was in Brookville about the time of the disappearance of the Helmsel boy, although Roberts denies that.

Brookville, May 24.—With the announcement of an offer of $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Harry Helscel, Jefferson county authorities have openly admitted their utter inability to solve the mystery of the trunk murder that has so aroused the entire region.

The coroner's inquest was thorough. But it failed to develop even the most remote clue and resulted in a verdict of "murder at the hands of unknown persons". The jury delved deeply into every phase of the mystery and emerged from it probe without the slightest ray of light having been thrown upon the affair. In fact the very fact with which the murder was perpetrated and the body hidden within 50 feet of houses, has served to make the mystery deeper than ever. There are some here who believe the mystery will never be solved.

However, the reward of $500 is expected to arouse some action, not only here but in other places.

Drops Through Hole in Fence

Harry Helscel was ten years old last January. He was a bright, active boy, weight 95 pounds and height about four feet eight inches. Besides

LIGHTNING STRUCK MOHR HOME

A bolt of lightning struck the residence of Henry Mohr on South Fourth street just at 12 o'clock today and shook things up considerably in that vicinity. The fluid followed the steam exhaust pipe down through the roof and aside from ripping a slate or two off and putting the electric light out of commission caused very little damage. The family was just sitting down to the noonday meal and they all suffered a slight shock. Mrs. George Rouch who lives in the adjoining house was in the act of lowering an upstairs window when the lightning struck and she was knocked down by the force of the blow. She was unhurt.

MR. AND MRS. WARD ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward entertained last evening at their home on Clearfield street. The occasion was in honor of both Mr. and Mrs. Ward's birthday anniversary and also their wedding anniversary which falls on the same day.

The evening was delightfully spent in playing games and music also furnished entertainment for the guests.

At a late hour excellent refreshments were served.

THE "HOUSE OF MYSTERY" MYSTERY SOLVED AFTER WEEKS OF EFFORT

Well, we have solved the mystery at last and only after many months of weary "watchful waiting". The "house of mystery" is no longer a mystery to us and we are going to pass that knowledge along to an anxiously awaiting world, especially that portion of it made up of the women folks along what the effete South Second street residents proudly style "Old Town Road".

The house of mystery is being erected by the members of "The Philadelphia Art Club" as a sort of country home or club, the construction being under the direction of the two resident or local members of that organization, and this location was chosen as a sort of compliment to them and because of the beauty of our town and surroundings; its healthy location, excellent water and other peaceful conditions.

The Philadelphia Art club is composed of a large number of the successful business and professional men of the state, its membership being restricted to those whose finances are in keeping with the general excellence of their character and standing in their respective communities. They maintain a most finely appointed and exclusive club in Philadelphia and the no longer "house of mystery" is being erected as a quiet place in which the membership may vacate or recuperate from time to time.

Membership in the Philadelphia Art club is a guarantee of success and accomplishment in worldly endeavor, its members without exception being qualified to sit down and complacently look back upon difficulties overcome and objectives gained and now that the majority of the members are "too old to go all the gaits," a quiet spot was selected where they can go and sit down in peace and comfort, surrounded by their cronies, live again in memories enchanted realms the many battles, failures and successes of the past.

We have not been favored with a look in at the new club house but we are assured by those who have seen its wonders that it is "some place" alright. We are told that its erection and finishing will mean an outlay of close to $50,000 and are also informed that some ten or a dozen local men will be taken in as resident members of the organization, but as the initiation fee and annual dues named reaches proportions commensurate to the advantages to be gained by membership in this noted organization we fear there will be few, very few, newspaper men in the lineup when the roll is called.

But darn it we finally solved that mystery, but it took some time, and guess we only found out at that because the people "in the know" were about ready to let it go.

RED CROSS ACTIVITY GETTING RESULTS

Lumber City

J. E. McKinley, the works superintendent, has the work in charge here and his organization is getting under way for their drive on the first line trenches. They will go over the top and bring back the money.

Karhaus

Reports from Chairman Potter are meagre but from the way "Bill" usually does things when the smoke of the drive clears away there will be something doing in the way of real subscriptions.

Pottersdale

Chairman McGonigal isn't going to take any chances on the two young huskies of his that are over there having to be in want of the good things that the Red Cross can do for them. Having done his bit in furnishing two fighters he is going to see that they get good care.

New Washington

Mrs. Thomas R. Mahaffey is doing fine at this place and the reports coming in are just the kind the local headquarters like to hear.

LaJose

The speakers sent here from Clearfield found, to their disappointment, that the meeting had not been thoroughly advertised. Chas. Dutra, the man in charge of the work, however, has arranged for a rousing meeting on Monday night and they will doubtless make up for the lost time on Friday.

Westlover

This tannery town is in charge of Mrs. A. B. Moore and she has her corps of workers working night and day to get their town over the top. They must be working hard as they have asked the headquarters for supplies and they already had been sent enough to do the trick.

Jeffries

John Davis, who has the work in charge here, has thus far turned in no reports but we have all sorts of confidence in Davis and know that he will be in with a dandy when the final count is turned in.

New Millport

Dr. Erhard is the chairman here and is meeting with great success. His meetings have all been well attended and he reports that New Millport will be heard from when the final count is made.

Tallen Timber

W. I. Carmen is a pleasant worker to have in this territory and he is giving the executive committee all kinds of support. His work at Allensville was a surprise indeed and he deserves all sorts of praise for the manner in which it was done.

E. M. FULLINGTON

and he returned home from Philadelphia several weeks ago. He was taken to the Clearfield hospital, but asked to be returned home about ten days ago, as he realized that nothing could be done for him and the end was rapidly approaching. He suffered a stroke early this morning.

Emerson Fullington was a son of the late Luke and Sarah Fullington and came from New York state to Clearfield county with the family in the early '70s. He was sober, industrious, honest and upright in all his dealings and by his industry and plies and they already had been sent right living not only accumulated considerable property but left to his family the priceless heritage of a good name. He was engaged at general contracting for years and also established the Fullington jitney line here.

Quiet and unassuming he at the same time took more than a passing interest in the public welfare and was generally respected as an upright, good citizen. His family have the sympathy of all in their bereavement.

The deceased was about 62 years of age and leaves to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father a widow, three sons and five daughters, viz: Al and Richard of Clearfield and J. Roy in the National army at Camp Lee, Va., and Misses Nora C., Mattie, Edna, Gladys and Lena all at home.

He also survived by one sister Mrs. John Keller of Hillsdale, and two brothers Charles and Martin of Clearfield.

Funeral announcement later.

FREE BAKING DEMONSTRATION TUESDAY

How To Use Wheat Flour Substitutes Will Be Explained Thoroughly By Expert

HOUSEWIVES SHOULD ATTEND

Bread, the "Staff of Life," the chief food of the human race, found on the table of every home, has its important place in this great war for democracy. Perhaps nothing concerned the American housewife as much as when the need for conserving the wheat supply became as necessary, for it meant a new way of bread baking.

It found the housewife unprepared. For years she had been baking bread with wheat flour only. The old-time recipe she had always used, one perhaps her mother had given her, was a sure and safe method. She knew, from many years of experience, that the bread always turned out good—that it would be light and wholesome and deliciously tempting and pleasing to her family. And, until this great war came, she baked bread in the manner she had always done. It became a fixed habit, a second nature, an intuition that called for no printed recipe to follow. Her bread baking was a pleasure.

But the war abruptly ended all this. Over in suffering Europe, starving severely tried and in anguish, came the soul-distressing cry for more wheat. There was but one country in the world that Europe could look to for help. The United States, the great wheat-producing nation, suddenly found itself confronted with an appeal for assistance. Our Allies firm in the belief that we would respond, generously and immediately asked for wheat—millions and millions of bushels.

A great moral duty was before us. Typical of the American spirit, we said we could and would furnish the wheat without delay.

Then came the important ruling from the U. S. Food Administration asking the American housewife to "do her bit" by purchasing wheat flour on the pound for pound basis of substitutes. It was the only way to solve the problem of conserving the wheat supply—to use less wheat in home bread baking. Old-time methods were to be discarded and a new one employed.

The response was wonderful but pitiful. Much to her disappointment, the American housewife discovered substitute bread did not turn out as good—it tasted badly—it was heavy and her family did not like it. There fine were spoiled batches—the substitutes were high-priced and there was no economy in bread baking. She concluded good bread could not be made from substitutes and consequently substitutes were not so generously used in home bread baking. The natural result was, real conservation of wheat did not transpire.

Wheat Flour Substitutes Easy To Use

It is easy to use substitutes. Every bit as easy as any method you have ever used. Whether you use corn flour, corn meal, barley flour, rolled oats, potato flour, hominy or what not good delicious bread can be baked with them in any home.

It is simply a matter of knowing how—a few simple points that are easily understood. To show Clearfield housewives just how to do it, arrangements have been made to conduct a special baking demonstration at Clearfield High School Auditorium on Tuesday, May 28th, where wheat flour substitutes will be used in bread baking. An expert baker, who has worked out a special recipe and method will show and explain the entire process—from the making of the sponge to the finished loaf of bread. Several substitutes will be used and the how and where fore of a few important points necessary to obtain good results will be shown and explained in detail. The substitute bread will be made up and baked in a gas stove oven before your very eyes.

This demonstration has been conducted elsewhere and has proven wonderfully helpful to thousands of housewives. It is being conducted with the express purpose of assisting the U. S. Food Administration in conserving the wheat supply by teaching housewives that substitutes can be used successfully. You will be most agreeably surprised to see how easily good bread can be made with substitutes and it is an opportunity you do not want to miss.

Another important feature brought out in this demonstration, is the little time it takes to bake bread. This expert's method cuts the time down to a minimum—it takes out the former "all day task" in bread baking and makes it a pleasure in that it requires less time and assures perfect results.

Come to this demonstration. It will show you how you can use the substitutes you must buy and at the same time helps you to do your bit in knowing how to conserve the wheat supply for our Allies and the boys over there. There is no admission charge. Everybody is welcome.

Olanta

Mrs. Maud Gansler, in charge of the work here, had arranged for a meeting here on Wednesday evening but on account of the inclemency of the weather the speakers were unable to get there. Asked for a meeting last night but there were no speakers available so her good husband, Henry B., stepped into the breach and did the talking. He must be good for the reports from there are something fine.

PRACTICAL TRUCK GROWER TELLS HOW TO KEEP FROST FROM TOMATOES

The planting of tomatoes this Spring is much earlier than usual. This has been due to the unusual seasonal conditions that have prevailed. Most gardeners seem to feel that there will be no break from warm to cold weather, at least not to the extent of bringing heavy frosts. Nevertheless there is no assurance that a disastrous change will not occur. Records show that in this locality, Clearfield county and adjacent areas, killing frosts occur after the 25th of May in at least three years out of four, and, indeed, they came in nearly as large proportion after the first of June. A series of destructive frosts occurred a few years ago on the 8th 9th and 10th of June. This does not argue that no tomatoes should be planted in gardens before the tenth of June but it does suggest the wisdom of providing protection for them if the disaster threatens.

A common practice among market gardeners but not generally known by the family garden maker is as follows: With a broad bladed hoe draw a low mound of loose soil against one side of the plant. Then with one hand bend the plant downward across the mound and with the other hand draw a covering of soil over the plant. Usually two movements of the hoe are enough for the whole operation. The soil need not be over one inch deep but should cover the whole plant, every leaf, to insure no damage. If there is danger of frost the next night also, the plants will not suffer if left under the cover through the day. Indeed it sometimes is necessary to keep them under the protection for three nights in succession, though they suffer some from the long confinement in cramped position and dampness.

More care must be used in uncovering the plants than in covering them, lest they be broken. Often the safest plan is to do it with hands alone, gently removing the soil and straightening out the stem and leaves, but on a large scale it can be done with a hoe cautiously used. The writer once covered 700 plants in two hours, after dark, with a lantern and cut of the entire lot just by breaking only two plants.

Of course other coverings may be used. Of these a few suggestions may be in place. Metal vessels such as pans or buckets are usually worse than nothing. If the frost is likely to be severe the entire plant should be shut in. If only a gentle frost is expected a broad covering over the plant will suffice. Newspapers are quite effective if at least two thicknesses are used and three would be safer. The air or small stones on the edges of the paper will be needed to keep them in place. Oil sacks, pieces of burlap or other cloths are safe protections against ordinary frosts but their effectiveness is much more than doubled if they are used in two thicknesses. A little head room between the plant and the covering seems to reduce the danger of damage.

But how are we to know when there is to be a frost? A first rate plan with reference to this question is to adopt the motto "Safety First." No one can present a reliable rule for predicting a frost. One little aid in that direction is this: whenever mercury hovers around 50 at sundown there is danger of frost. If it is below fifty the danger becomes almost a certainty, that is, if the evening is clear and crisp. But don't DON'T accept this as a sure enough clue for your garden. Sometimes the temperature varies as much as six or eight degrees at places fifty yards apart. A rapidly rising barometer is another danger signal. In some of the valleys along the larger streams fogs are a frequent complete protection, but only when the conditions of the earth and the atmosphere are right to produce fog. The experienced market gardener makes a daily study of the weather notes in the newspapers and acquires a knowledge of the habits of the thing we call the weather, not only for his section of the country but for the larger areas from which his weather changes come, especially the west and northwest when the question is to cover or not to cover the plants.

Grampian

Our old friend and standby, Jacob Secor, is in direct charge here and has as his assistants, Ralph Stearns, E. F. Williams and J. N. Butler. They have even a limited supply for the complete team. This is a great working combination and they are doing great work. They have also added C. A. Woods and Cal Bisco, who are 100 per cent Americans and this will make a great outfit to send Grampian over the top.

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

LETTER FROM CHAS. STOUGHTON

Paris Island, S. C.

Dear Brother and all the Rest. I have received a couple letters and cards from you and certainly was glad to get them. Our battalion moved to another camp last night. We had to walk about 5 miles with a 60 pound pack on our back and a rifle. I have a peach of a rifle and I long for the day when I can shoot it at a target or better still a Hun. We will be in France pretty soon.

I got a roll of papers this evening and was glad to get them. The only fault, I could find was that I couldn't eat them. We get very little sweet stuff here and it costs like the deuce at the canteen. What you buy don't taste like the home made things either and I am pretty near broke and will make to buy stamps, so if you have any extra sugar send me something real sweet. Some cake or candy. I was vaccinated for smallpox and it didn't take. I have had two inoculations and they didn't hurt me except to make my arm stiff. I will get another one on Saturday. I hope everyone feels as good as I do. I hope the kids are over their cold. No one should worry about me.

Must close for this time. Very truly CHARLES

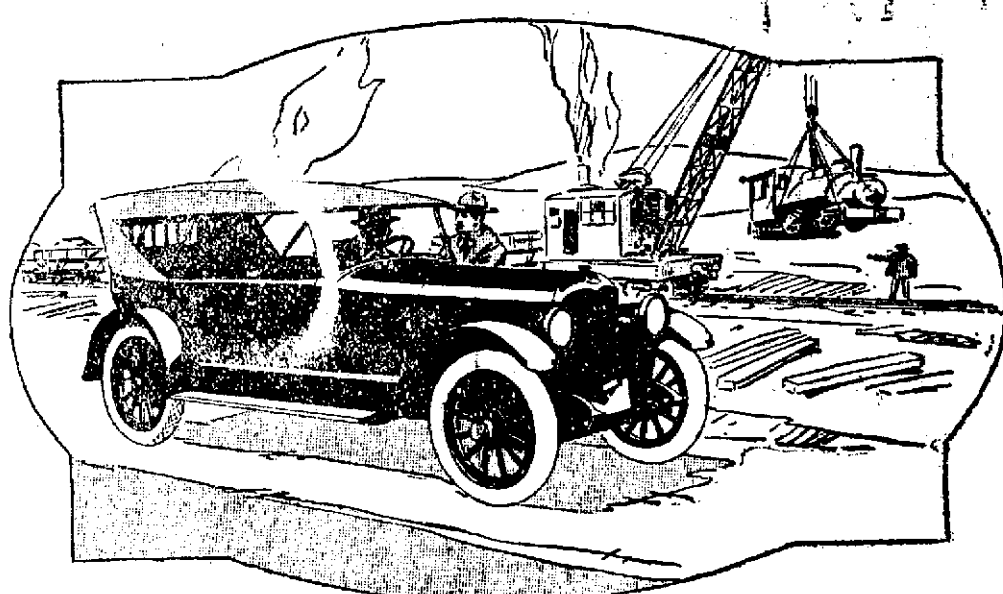

WHY RYE FLOUR WAS REMOVED FROM SUBSTITUTE LIST

Numerous inquiries have come to the Food Administration asking why rye flour was removed from the list of substitutes for wheat flour. On May 1 it was estimated that there remained but 16,000,000 bushels of rye in the United States. Against this amount our normal consumption of rye from May 1 to August 1 amounts to 1,000,000 bushels. If rye flour had been continued on the substitute list our available supply would not have lasted one month. In order that the complete team, this is a great working combination and they are doing great work. They have also added C. A. Woods and Cal Bisco, who are 100 per cent Americans and this will make a great outfit to send Grampian over the top.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stinson, Jr. left today for an auto trip to Lewis town where they will spend a few days visiting friends.

First Mail Airplane Leaving Mineola for Washington

The first of the five mail airplanes established to carry mail between New York City and Washington, the first mail ever flown, left the aviation field at Mineola, L. I., not far from New York City, Wednesday, just before noon on its flight of more than 200 miles. Lieutenant Torrey Webb, of the aviation section of the United States Signal Corps, was the pilot who took the first pouch of mail to the National Capitol.

SUDDEN DEATH OF GILBERT HOOVER

While helping to load hay on a wagon at his farm home at Sylvan Grove, near Kylertown, Tuesday afternoon, May 21st, 1918, Gilbert Hoover, one of the best known residents of Cooper township, was stricken with heart ailure, and died immediately. He had apparently been in the best of health, and his sudden death was a great surprise and shock to the entire community.

Gilbert Hoover was a son of Jeremiah Hoover, one of the old pioneers of Cooper township (Hoover, Suffern, N. Y., and was born seventy-four years ago last November. He has lived in that neighborhood all his life. His wife, who was Miss Marjorie Zimmerman, died nine years ago. He is survived by the following sons and daughters, viz: Samuel Hoover, of Diaz, Wash.; Ira of Sylvan Grove, N. Y.; Boyd of DuBois; Mrs. Elmer Merrill, of Clearfield, Wash.; Mrs. Guy Johnson, of Grass Flat, and Miss Alta, at home. Also these brothers and sisters survive: Henry, of Clearfield; Wilson and John, of Sylvan Grove; George, of Karthaus; Mrs. M. E. Murray, and Mrs. Henry Meyer, of Diaz, Wash.

The deceased was a successful farmer and an honored and highly respected citizen. His death has caused genuine sorrow throughout the neighborhood in which he was so well and favorably known. He was quite well known in Clearfield, where his friends have learned of his sudden demise with surprise and regret. The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Funeral services in charge of Rev. Durkee, of the Munson Methodist Episcopal church, were held on Friday afternoon.

THE BIG PARADE

Talk about your big parades; I've got one in my mind That puts to shame the Caesars' shades,

And leaves the stars behind! It passes 'neath the Linden trees And over Wilhelm street, With banners waving in the breeze, And tramp of marching feet.

I see the British Union Jack, The noble flag of France, The Belgian red and gold and black, I float by before my glance.

I hear the highland Scottish pipes, And—what is this I see? Ahead of all—the Stars and Stripes, The ensign of the free!

Here's to The Day when this parade Shall march through old Berlin, To make all outcasts afraid, And welcome Freedom in!

GERMAN SOLDIERS ON EAST FRONT MUTINY

Washington, May 21.—Mutiny has broken out among German soldiers in the east, according to State Department messages today. The Russian message, dated May 19, said a German division at Dvinsk had revolted when ordered to leave for the western front. Sixty soldiers were shot and more than a thousand put in prison to await court martial. Others made demonstrations against action of the German commanders. The 56 Infantry regiment at Wessenburg and other German regiments organized a meeting to protest against the continuance of the war.

A WISE RULING

Railroad Dictator McAdoo has very wisely ruled that hereafter traveling soldiers on furlough shall be required to pay fare of but one cent per mile. This is right and proper. The new rule will go into effect June 1st.

Brooklyn certainly is getting its share of the bad breaks this season. In a recent game with Cincinnati the Robins gathered 15 hits to 7 for the Reds, but the Reds won the game 7 to 5.

and in the line up were the two local Italian lodges and the citizens of Italian birth and their families to the number of several hundred. Following these were another delegation of citizens led by Hon. Matt Savage and headed by the Kerr Addition drum corps. The Independent Military company had arranged to participate but misunderstanding the starting hour were unable to get in line in time.

The parade traversed the principal streets and elicited much applause along the line of march, the delegation of Red Cross ladies making an especially pleasing appearance. It was a highly creditable showing and the Italian people are deserving of every praise for their patriotic spirit.

One thing that was particularly noticeable and most favorably commented upon was the fact that almost every adult member of the parade wore a Liberty Loan button and a Red Cross badge on his coat lapel. This was also a revelation to some people who in their ignorance presume to look down on the Italian citizen as not being our equal in all things, forgetting or never having learned that when France, England and Germany were inhabited by savages and this country utterly unknown, Italy was a great civilization of artists, law makers, great warriors and statesmen, and that Italy today is a great civilization of scientists and patriots of courage and devotion to the world's democracy.

The parade ended at the courthouse corner and when the assembly had been massed about the stand there Mayor Chase rapped for order and after the rendering of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the band, made a brief address of welcome and complimented the Italians on their patriotism and fine appearance on this occasion.

Mayor Chase then introduced John M. Bain of the county Public Safety committee as the first speaker of the evening. Mr. Bain made an excellent address in which he spoke of the devotion of the Italian-American to his adopted country and flag. He was followed by Hon. Matt Savage of the Public Spirit, who added his word of praise and good wishes for Italy and the success of our allies. Fred Guarino then addressed the assembly in Italian, and after the rendering of the Royal Italian march by the band and an announcement concerning Memorial day by Mayor Chase the exercises were concluded with "America" by the band, the audience joining.

Italy began her fourth year of the war yesterday in better fighting trim than she has been in since casting her lot with the allies in the defense of civilization. The battle front from west of Lake Garda, through the northern mountains and down the Piave River to the Adriatic is strongly held on all its 400 odd miles. Fighting shoulder to shoulder with the Italians are numerous British and French detachments which went to the rescue last November in the dark days of the 100-mile retreat from the shattered Isonzo front. Recently a German newspaper reported the presence of some American troops in Italy. This Spring found the Italians on the initiative. They recently captured Monte Corno which dominates the vital Arsa Valley. Monte Grappa the key to the mountain front, has withstood the Teutons' heaviest attacks.

Prof. Giovanni Sartorio and his Clearfield Italian band were complimented highly by every speaker for their patriotic generosity in furnishing music free of charge for every patriotic or public occasion. The band is making fine progress under Prof. Sartorio's instruction and is a credit to our town and especially the Italian people.

"A great net of mercy drawn through an ocean of unspeakable pain"

Across the Seas They Call

ACROSS the seas from every war-torn nation in the Allied cause there comes the call for Red Cross help.

It comes from soldiers who have grimly faced the gleaming bayonet steel and poison gas and screaming shells, and who now lie with parching throats and throbbing wounds.

It comes from soldiers sick with fever, pneumonia, tuberculosis.

It comes from soldiers crippled, mutilated, blinded, who can no longer fight and must be taught and trained for useful occupations.

It comes from the underfed, shivering, helpless prisoners in the German prison camps.

It comes from little children, orphaned, homeless, slowly starving day by day, by tens and tens of thousands.

It comes from mothers in the pillaged zones of war whose hearts and souls have been made numb with horror.

From all these millions of suffering human beings there comes across the seas the call for help—help that because of the frightful burdens placed upon our Allies cannot be given unless it be provided by the American Red Cross.

Another hundred million is needed to "carry on."

What will America's answer be?

Every cent of every dollar received for the Red Cross War Fund goes for War Relief.

The American Red Cross is the largest and most efficient organization for the relief of suffering that the World has ever seen.

It is made up almost entirely of volunteer workers, the higher executives being without exception men accustomed to large affairs, who are in almost all cases giving their services without pay.

It is supported entirely by its membership fees and by voluntary contributions.

It is today bringing relief to suffering humanity, both military and civil, in every War torn allied country. It plans tomorrow to help in the work of restoration throughout the world.

It feeds and clothes entire populations in times of great calamity.

It is there to help your soldier boy in his time of need.

With its thousands of workers, its tremendous stores and smooth running transportation facilities, it is serving as America's advance guard—and thus helping to win the war.

Congress authorizes it.

President Wilson heads it.

The War Department audits its accounts.

Your Army, your Navy and your Allies enthusiastically endorse it.

Twenty-two million Americans have joined it.

ALLPORT SOLDIER DIES AT HIS HOME

Elmer Shields, 24 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shields, of Allport, died at the home of his parents, o'clock. M. J. Reed, the hostess will read a paper on decorative gardening. As this is the last meeting of the year all members are urged to be present.

The Moshannon Chapter of the Red Cross at once supplied a nurse and skilled physicians were called to attend him any everything possible was done to alleviate his sufferings.

Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers and three sisters, viz: Emory in the U. S. service, stationed at Panama; Vernoni of Altoona; Mrs. Viola Hoover, of Kylertown; Mrs. Helen Hoover, of Kylertown and Miss Maud Shields, at home.

Because of the contagious nature of the disease which caused the young soldier's death, the funeral was private and burial was made on Wednesday afternoon. The sympathy of the whole community goes to the family who are in grief over the death of this loved son and brother, who was a young man of many fine christian qualities which made him a large number of friends.

Twelve Tire Tests No. 4

Tube-Life

YOU have often noticed that ordinary gray rubber bands grow brittle with age—especially if exposed to heat and the sun's rays. So with inner tubes. The heat developed in tires while driving, and the disintegrating effects of time render many inner tubes brittle and porous, thus destroying their usefulness.

The test herein described was made by Michelin engineers to help you determine the durability of various makes of inner tubes.

Each of the tubes shown was made by a company, half a Michelin Tube to half a tube of another make this other make being different in each case.

The tubes were then run to destruction on the road under normal conditions. One by one the other sections blew out while the Michelin sections remained intact.

Michelin Tubes are used by the great majority of motorists today, and have proved themselves most durable and economical.

This series of twelve tests is designed to take the uncertainty out of tire-buying.

RED CROSS FIFTY DOLLARS TO GOOD RESULT OF FIGHT

Over at Tyler in Huston township they have a veritable Congress of nations in their population and as a result the local justice John Kitchner, the official judge or administrator of the peace is required to assume the responsibilities of a Peck Bah or among the polyglot peoples making up his clientele.

The good, gray justice is a wise counsellor and an impartial judge and when he is called upon to act as mediator in an arbitration concerning two or more of the different European races existing there his temple and throne of justice is always crowded by an eager populace anxious to drink in the words of wisdom as they fall from the lips of the Don Quixote of Hysteria Kingdom. That is about the only drinking done around there too, since the town went dry a year or so ago.

The judge was called upon to solve a difficult problem yesterday and acquitted himself so well that a Clearfield citizen who happened in Tyler followed the crowd and was a living witness of the efficient old justice in action, give us the dope for this tale. He had a particular snotty case on hands, too. That is, there were knots standing out all over the ivory domes of both parties to the controversy.

The principals were Mrs. John Hydock, weight 156 lbs., and Tony Amerella, 157 lbs. The nation represented were Austria and Italy. The trouble to get a scrawl here under existing circumstances. The trouble arose over the children. The trouble makers ran true to form and Austria outclassed or outwitted Italy, and when Tony's kids got versed in the encounter, he went to the Hydock home to lodge a complaint. When he arrived there he found Mrs. Hydock to be some "lodge" herself. She succeeded in lodging the brown stick on Tony's beam several times and soon Alpine promontories appeared all over Italy. When Tony became a bit groggy the woman dropped her broom and proceeded to belabor him with her fists. Our ally reserved his fast waning strength for a final come-back and ending a chair brought it down on the Austrian's head and she succumbed to painful dreams.

Tony was promptly arrested on information made by the woman's husband and entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Judge Kitchner. He offered $100 in settlement of the damage. When Mrs. Hydock recovered from the knock out blow and was told of Tony's offer she promptly rejected all thought of even so much as putting a finger on the Red Cross filth here, but when the judge in his judicial wisdom intimated that this was Red Cross week and the local solicitors for that fund might not have such considerations for the woman promptly saw the light and stated that she would be satisfied to nurse her wounds if Tony was compelled to pay the costs in the case and contribute $50 to the Red Cross. Amerella was tickled to death and made his contribution at once and a truce was declared between the nations.

NEW DRAFT RULE WILL HIT I. W. W.

Washington, May 24.—The full force of Provost Marshal General Crowder's order to either work or fight will be used against the I. W. W. and kindred organizations, officials of the draft board declared today. The power conferred on local boards under the regulations will deal a knockout blow to the activities of the I. W. W., officials declared. It will be practically impossible under the new regulations for a repetition of the situation in many parts of the country last year. When harvest was ready the I. W. W. refused to work.

the father and mother there are two other children in the family, Paul, aged eight and a girl, aged six. The father is a contracting driller. Last fall the family moved to this place from Kane, Pa.

On Sunday, May 12, Harry, according to the story of the father, left the house at about 1:30 in the afternoon and going through a hole in the fence at a distance of about 40 feet from the house, he suddenly dropped from view and no one has been found who positively knows of seeing the boy after that time. He was in his bare feet, no hat or cap on his head, had on a blue sweater, blue short trousers and a suit of underclothing. No other clothing of any kind.

On Sunday afternoon the boys of the neighborhood usually gather to play ball in a field to the rear of the barn. The father thought the boy had gone to play with these boys but none of them saw him nor did he make his appearance there. From the house to where these boys were playing was probably a little more than 100 yards. His brother, Paul, was playing ball with the other boys but he says Harry did not come to the ball ground.

Not Work of Boys

As to how the boy met death and at whose hands there are only theories, and anyone basing an opinion has very little besides the facts given herewith. Sheriff M. G. Mayes has been untiring in his search for information but like all the others he has not been able to place his hands on anything tangible.

Most people are pretty thoroughly convinced that it was not the work of boys. Very few people know of the location of the trunk in the barn, and who did were mostly boys, having seen it when they were playing around the premises. No one or even two small boys could take the body up the steep and narrow stairs. If the boy was killed during the daytime the body would undoubtedly be taken to the barn at night. Boys are not going to go in a dark place with a body, jam it fast in a trunk and take time to fasten the catches, especially so at night. This hardly looks plausible. It was a hard job to kill as strong a boy as Harry, if he was murdered, and it would require a large sized boy to do it or a man. The intention apparently was to convey the impression that he was drowned and like so many things in mysterious cases, the perpetrator did not know sufficient of medical science to be aware that in almost every case the lungs of a person dying by drowning are filled with water.

WOULD KEEP THEIR SLAVES

(By United Press)

Paris, May 25.—German farmers do not want an exchange of prisoners of war with Russia.

The exchange was provided for in the peace treaty of Brest-Litovsk, and already has started.

There is a general protest among the German farmers, who are getting their work done for nothing, or for a nominal wage, by Russian prisoners of war, who practically are slaves in Germany.

The farmers claim that if they are deprived of this slave labor before September the results will be disastrous upon the food production. German papers recently received here give considerable prominence to this question.

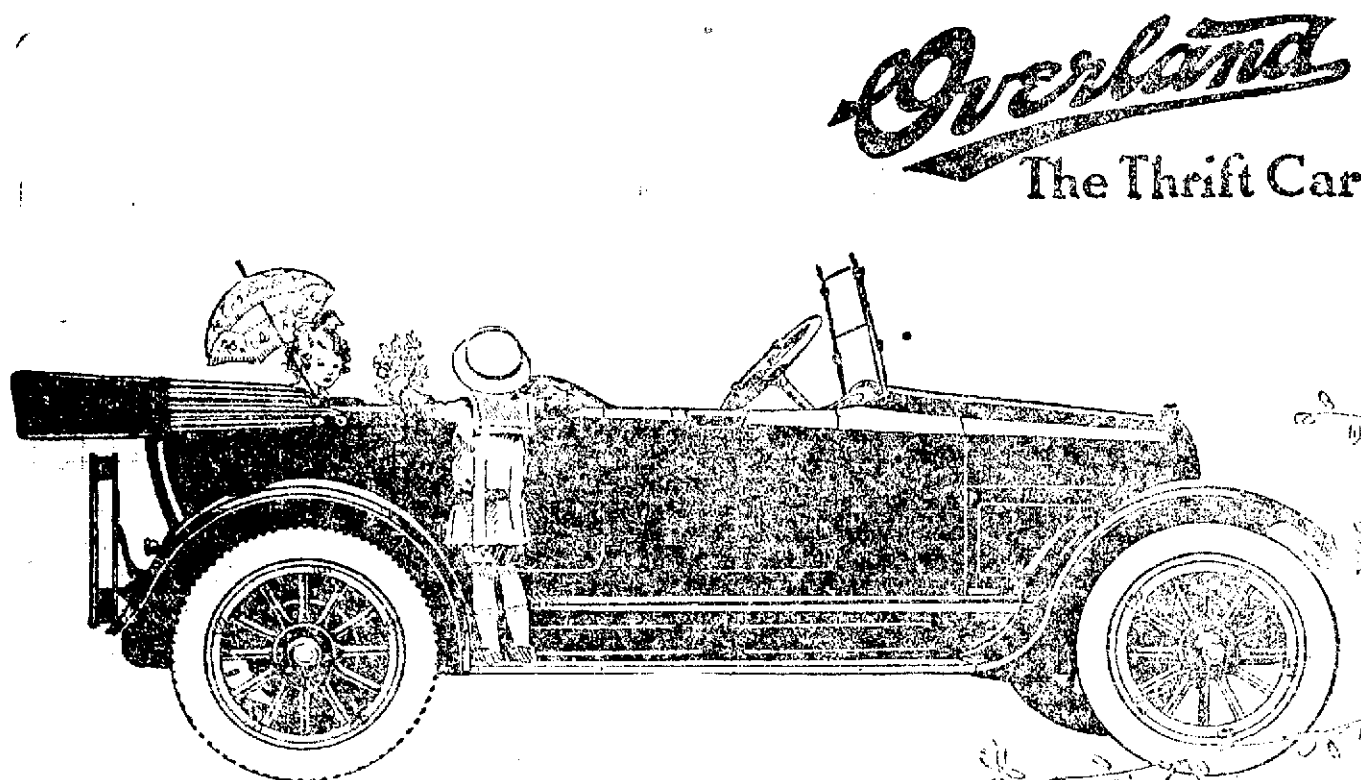

Put that want ad in the Progress and get results.

WRITE THEM A LETTER TONIGHT

Don't go to the theatre, concert or ball,
But stay in your room tonight;
Deny yourself to the friends that call
And a good long letter write.
Write to the sad old folks at home,
Why it when the day is done,
With folded arms in the old arm chair
And think of the absent ones.

Don't selfishly scribble, "Excuse my haste,
I have hardly time to write;"
Let their thoughts go wandering back

To many a bygone night
When they lost their needed sleep and rest,
And every breath was a prayer
That God would spare their darling child
To their tender love and care.

Don't let them feel that you've no need
For their love and counsel wise,
For the heart grows strangely sensible
When age has dimmed the eyes.
It might be well to let them know
You never forget them quite;
That you deem it a pleasure when far away
Long letters home to write.

The duty of writing do not put off,
Let sleep or pleasure wait;
Let the letter for which they longed
And looked,
Be a day or an hour too late.
For the loving old folks at home
With looks past turning white,
Are longing to hear from the absent ones—
Write them a letter tonight.

"With the Man on the Gun"
The First Day Doesn't Count
When you judge varnish you must wait more than a day to pass the verdict. Nearly all varnishes look alike when first applied. But when time and exposure have tried and tested them, then it is that quality tells—then there is only one that you could choose for future use—
Cosmolac
And even the first day there is something in the full, even lustre of Cosmolac that is missing in other varnishes. Cosmolac is a tough, elastic finish for all surfaces requiring varnish indoors or out. It is not affected by hot or cold soapy water, sun, alkali, alcohol or acid and will not crack or peel. Translucent as a sheet of plate glass, it enhances the beauty of wood grain and decorations and preserves woodwork from the ravages of time. For all "varnish" work use Cosmolac—"with the man on the gun."

RUSSIA HAS MUNICIPAL POUND FOR KIDS

Arthur Brisbane is authority for the following:
News comes from Russia that seems strange to those that do not know of old laws.
Anarchistic revolutionists in charge of government at Saratov have made marriage illegal. The man who claims his wife as his own is guilty of sabotage and must go to jail.
Children are the property of the state, and will be brought up in groups, like the small chickens you have seen in the tin brooders of Madison street shop windows.
Women having "more than five children" are supposed to have done their duty, and may do as they please. Others, when politely requested, must add to the population—which is multiplying T. R.'s race, suicide theories by a million and going very far, indeed.
Babies one month old go to a people's crib where they are raised for the state until seventeen years of age.
The mother of twins gets a national gift of 200 roubles, worth just now about twenty-five dollars in real money. The revolution can't be accused of extravagance.
Workingmen must set aside two per cent. of their earnings to help raise the nation's babies. The prosperous class must pay in one hundred roubles per month, all must be careful about their health—and the revolution feels that it has made great stride toward democracy and general happiness.

CONTRACTS FOR COMPLETION OF LEONARD BRIDGE

The County Commissioners received bids yesterday morning at eleven o'clock for filling the approaches, and paving the four span concrete bridge over Clearfield Creek at Leonard station.
Messrs. Whittaker & Diehl, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, being the lowest bidders, were awarded the paving contract in the sum of $3600 and the filling went to Lord & Cunningham, of Hastings, Pennsylvania. Sixty days time has been allowed for the completion of the work.
The Pennsylvania Railroad company and the New York Central Railroad company having been ordered by the Public Service Commission early in the year to remove the embankment on the approaches to their respective railroads, have their portion of the work surveyed, and have been negotiating with contractors for carrying out that part of the improvement.
We look forward to an early completion of the entire contract, which when finished will be a decided improvement over the dangerous grade crossings and sharp curves to which the public has been exposed for many years. The County Commissioners should be congratulated for having taken steps to make this much needed change, and furnish the public with a beautiful structure, which is a great credit to Clearfield county and the pride of its inhabitants.

ROCKTON YOUTH HURT UNDER AUTO TRUCK, DIES

Cecil Taylor, a 16 year old Rockton boy, died Thursday morning in the local hospital, where he had been receiving treatment for the past four days for injuries to his pelvic organs he received when he fell under a heavy auto last Saturday.
The lad was on his way home from work in a clay mine when a truck came along and he attempted to board it. He missed his hold, however and fell under the wheels, which passed over his body below the waist. He was rushed to the local hospital where his condition was at once declared to be critical and, despite the best efforts that were made, death resulted.

Miss Helen Dufton and guest Miss Kathryn Cressman of Philadelphia, arrived here yesterday from a trip to Battle Creek and Ann Arbor, Mich.
Mrs. Silas Fletcher left today for her home in Everett after visiting her sister Mrs. B. F. Mann of Ogden avenue.
Mrs. Frank Ball is able to be about after being operated on at the Clearfield hospital for gonorrhea.
Mrs. J. R. Ruddick, nee Kate Stock, wife of Capt. J. R. Ruddick, of the U. S. Regular Army, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stock on South Second street.
Capt. Ruddick has been located at Camp Funston, Kansas, the past year as an instructor in the Signal Corps, but is now on his way to the front in France.

RED CROSS AT CURRY RUN

The people of Greenwood township gathered at the M. E. Church in Curry Run Friday evening to attend a meeting in the interest of the Red Cross. Max Johnston had charge of exercises and the Mahaffey orchestra under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Brown furnished delightful music, ably assisted by the Mahaffey quartette, who favored with the latest patriotic songs.

Rev. Hartman presided and a pleasing program was carried out by the young ladies of the community. Rev. Jno. C. Collins delivered the principal address and subscriptions totaling $150 were lifted. Rev. Collins and L. C. Morris, of Clearfield, represented the local Red Cross chapter at the meeting.

MARINES IN DRIVE FOR COLLEGE MEN

The U. S. Marine Corps will make a "spring drive" for college men. A number of university and college graduates now in the Corps are being sent both to their old schools and nearby recruiting stations to thoroughly explain to members of the graduating and other classes the many advantages of the Marine Corps.
A special feature of their work will be to enroll a few men for the aviation branch of the Corps. They will search particularly among successful athletes for applicants for this branch.
After their application has been successfully passed, the men will be sent to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology enrolled as gunnery sergeants. Then they will go to the flying school and, if successful will be commissioned second lieutenants.
Many of the collegians who do not desire to enter the aviation are planning to enter the Marine Corps and work their way into the Marine Officer's Training Schools, which are held every three months for enlisted men only.
Eddie Mahan, Harvard football star; Harry Legore, Yale crack; Johnny Overton, crack Yale runner; Johnny Beckett, Oregon University football star; "Pup" Phillips, Georgia Tech's sensational football star and Pete Garlow, Carlisle Indian star, are a few of the noted college athletes now wearing the uniform of the Marine Corps.

TRINITY CHURCH

The morning sermon at Trinity Methodist church will be the fifth of a series on the Beatitudes. The subject is "The Merciful Man" with special application to the Red Cross work.
The evening sermon will be appropriate to memorial day, the subject being "The Effect of War on Religion."

Mrs. H. J. Flegel entertained a number of the ladies of the Trinity Methodist Sunday school last evening at her home on Gulch avenue.
The ladies were invited to bring their sewing and knitting and thus spent a most enjoyable evening. Refreshments were served.

National league pastimers, other than the New York Giants, are slowly edging their way into the select circle of top-notch bat-men.

Lesson 8—Second Quarter, May 26, 1918.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Text of the Lesson, Mark 12:1-12—Memory Verses, Mark 12:29-31—Golden Text, Mark 12:17—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Although the lesson verses assigned to us are but few out of this chapter, I feel led to consider the whole chapter, and this we will endeavor to do. The parable of the wicked husbandman, the topic of lesson verses 1-12, was one of many parables which he spoke to them during that last week, in all of which they might have seen themselves and their treatment of him, if they had eyes to see, and ears to hear, and were not so utterly blind and deaf. The parable of the two sons (Matt. 21:28-32), in which he taught that it was easier to save the openly wicked than self-righteous people, was probably spoken just before the parable of our lesson, which is found also in Matt. 21 and Luke 20, and clearly sets forth Israel's treatment of him as the Lord of the vineyard. In Isa. 5:7 it is written "the vineyard of the Lord of Hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah his pleasant plant," and he asks "What could have been done more to my vineyard, that I have not done in it?" yet instead of fruit it only received wild grapes. The situation is summed up in 2 Chron. 36:15, 16, where it is written that although he had compassion on his people, and on his dwelling place, and zealously sent them many messengers, they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused his prophets, until the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, till there was no remedy. Then followed the seventy years' captivity (2 Chr. 36:21). In the parable of today's lesson the story is brought down to his own time, and the rejection of himself as the well-beloved son and heir, and the consequent giving of the vineyard to others (vs. 6-9). In Matt. 21:43 his saying is "The kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof," so that Israel has lost something which might have been hers, and yet he has not cast her off forever. See Rom. 11:1, 12; 15:25, 26. It was all foreseen and foretold, and the rejected stone of Israel has become the chief stone of a new foundation, and when the church has been completed, and presented to himself, a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing, then shall he come as the stone without hands, and break in pieces all kingdoms, and set up his own kingdom, which shall never be destroyed. Vss. 12; 1 Cor. 3:11; Eph. 5:27; Dan. 2:44, 45. See also Ps. 118:22.

In verses 13-34, the Pharisees and Herodians, and the Sadducees, and the scribes, all seek to entangle him in his talk, and catch him in his words. How utterly unbearable would all such conduct be to all but himself, yet he came to save even such as these, but they would not have him.

Following the parable of the vineyard it is probable that he spoke the parable of the marriage of the king's son (Matt. 22:1-14), in which he set forth their rejection of all his provision for them. As to the Sadducees, who did not believe in any resurrection nor in angels nor spirits (vs. 18; Acts 23:9) and who came with their foolish question about the woman who had seven husbands; his answer to them was, "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God" (vs. 24 and Matt. 22:29). Although in the resurrection there will be neither marrying, nor giving in marriage, he did not say that those who are specially dear to each other here will not be as dear there; and I like to think of the way he loved to reunite families down here and give back their loved ones, as in the case of Jairus, the widow, and Bethany. As to those whom we call dead being now alive, and in due time the resurrection of their bodies, see vs. 25-27. The question of the scribe seemed more honest, and he seemed to understand in some measure, but there is no contradiction in our Lord's reply to the great truth that the law cannot give life, and that Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth (vs. 28-34; Gal. 3:21, 22; Rom. 10:4).

Verses 35-40 are more fully recorded in Matt. 22:41-46, and the great question is, "What think ye of Christ?" or Pilate's question, "What shall I do with Jesus, who is called Christ?" (Matt. 27:22). Note his quotation from Ps. 110:1 and think of him as still at the right hand of the Father, waiting for the time of his kingdom. As it is written in Heb. 10:12, 13, "From henceforth expecting till his enemies be made his footstool."

In verses 35-40 he warns against the hypocrisy of a mere formal and outward religion, which loves a religious display, and for a pretense makes long prayers, while at the same time oppressing the poor and devouring widows' houses. How strange that poor mortals could imagine thus to deceive God.

In verses 41-44 he tells us what he thinks of some poor oppressed widows and their gifts. Surely the Lord seeth not as man seeth; man looketh on the outward but the Lord looketh on the heart (1 Sam. 16:7). Think of the Lord valuing this widow's offering more than all the gifts of the rich. Never speak of it as the widow's mite, for it was two mites and all that she had.

FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Sonbury, Pa., May 22.—Henry M. Sallada, of Sacramento, was convicted of first degree murder in the Northumberland County court today.
He was charged with killing William Schlegel of Johnson City. Schlegel was shot and killed on a mountain road near Shamokin and his pockets rifled.

William Sallada, brother of the convicted man, was at once put on trial for the same murder.
The Salladas are originally from the Rockton country and were apprehended in DuBois following the murder through the efforts of John M. Bain, of the local Exemption Board. They looted Al Dunlap's camp at Kennedy Park and he made them disgorge their plunder at the muzzle of a shot gun and also notified Mr. Bain of their whereabouts and he in turn notified the State police.

AVENGE SINKING OF SHIP U-BOAT SENT TO BOTTOM MEXICO-CUBA TROUBLE UP TWO PENNA. MEN KILLED

American naval forces avenged the torpedoing of the British steamer Inniscarra, reported sunk by a torpedo off the British coast with a loss of 35 men. Official dispatches from London today said that the U-boat was sent to the bottom by a square hit almost immediately after the Inniscarra was sunk. An American destroyer fired the shot.

Washington, May 25.—Fifty-three men, all members of Company B, 58 Infantry, 4th Division, were reported lost in the sinking of the British transport Moldavia, the War Department reported today. Among those lost were Corp. Fred Chappell Philadelphia, and Roy H. Shenk, Lancaster. There were 48 American soldiers on the vessel, part of whom were of the 58th Infantry.

The War Department announced that the number of dead in the Moldavia sinking would be probably less than 50 American soldiers. Fifty-three were reported missing in the first dispatch. The list was not immediately made known.

Dispatches from Amsterdam today reported that 15 German sailors were court-martialed at Ostend as the result of the British blockade successes at Ostend and Zeebrugge. Thirteen of them were executed. The other 2 were given sentences of 20 years imprisonment each.

General Haig's official statement today reported increased artillery activity in the Stazelle sector. The German lines near Lens and Kemmel were bombarded by the British, 2 machine guns and 50 prisoners were taken. United Press dispatches from the Lorraine sector said that negro troops are holding the line in cooperation with French soldiers. American aviators brought down 2 enemy planes on May 21, it was stated.

The War Department's bulletin on western front casualties listed 23 names, of whom 4 died in action, 4 died from wounds, 4 severely wounded, and 8 were slightly wounded. Among them were Tony Kalensky of Bentleyville, Pa., died of wounds; Frank Snyder, of Kingston, Pa., died of wounds.

French villagers paid touching tribute to Major Raoul Lufberry American ace, when they learned of his death. They improvised a chapel and children gathered wild flowers with which they covered the coffin.

The international situation was complicated today by the Mexican-Cuban situation following rumors that Mexico has severed diplomatic relations with that island republic. It was announced today that the State Department had information that the Mexican Charge d'Affairs at Havana had been recalled.

Washington, May 25.—Mexican embassy officials today were endeavoring to clear up reports that Cuba and Mexico had severed diplomatic relations. "I have heard the reports," Senator Ignotus Bonillas declared, "but as far as I know no such action has been taken. Some time ago and following the Fabio incident at Havana, diplomatic relations were strained. I don't know what action was taken."

The ambassador is of the opinion that the reports are false.

The Fabio incident referred to was the seizure and searching of the baggage of Fabio, Mexican minister to Argentina, Brazil and Chile while passing through Havana en route to South America. The diplomat's baggage was stolen. Several days later it was found in the streets of Havana intact. It probably had been searched by the thieves. Nothing was taken.

ENTERTAINS SEWING CLUB

The Red Cross solicitors visited the Pyramid mine, near Curwensville yesterday and Manager Pilkington very courteously assisted them in their work with the result that when the last man had been seen they found the mine to be distinctly 100 per cent American regardless of the fact that many of the men employed were natives of foreign climes. Each man contributed $5.00 and the total amount subscribed was $290.

ENTERTAINS SEWING CLUB

Mrs. Clair Ross entertained her sewing club last evening at her home on Clearfield street. The ladies enjoyed the evening knitting and sewing. During the course of the evening delicious refreshments were served.

Up to the time of his departure for the ship yard Joe Jackson had hit for $369 in 17 games for the White Sox.

ADAMS SCANDAL MAY BE AIRED ONCE MORE

Libellant Makes Plea For New Trial, Claiming Court Was Partial To The Defendant

NEW EVIDENCE IS PROMISED

Brookville, May 24.—Rumblings of what is said here to mark the approach of one of the biggest legal sensations this county has ever had, were heard in court when W. B. Adams, of Punxsutawney, applied for a new trial in the case of W. B. Adams vs. Fannie N. Adams, for divorce.

Judge Reed, Edward A. Caimalt, W. L. McCracken and W. B. Adams appeared for libellant and for a time nobody appeared for the respondent, but upon being sent for, Raymond L. Brown appeared.

Judge Reed presented the plea for the libellant, claiming, among other things, that the court had erred in the former trial of the case in the admission of certain testimony on behalf of the respondent and co-respondents, and in excluding testimony offered by the libellant; that the judge's charge was biased and unfair to the libellant; that the libellant now had much after-discovered testimony, including testimony indicating that Lex N. Mitchell, one of the co-respondents, had stayed all night at a certain hotel with the respondent; that this evidence had but recently come to the libellant and could not have been offered at the former trial.

W. B. Adams, the libellant, continued the argument for nearly one hour at the afternoon session. He called the Court's attention to the fact that in his charge to the jury he had stated the libellant was his only principal witness, whereas the testimony of Lex N. Mitchell, a totally disinterested witness, would establish adultery on the part of the respondent. That the testimony of Martha Bowman, H. H. Fleck, C. L. Palmer, J. H. Thomas, and the written confession of one of the co-respondents, all showed adultery on part of the respondent, and that this testimony was disinterested. And that subsequent to the trial the libellant had discovered other important disinterested testimony, incriminating in its nature, which showed undue intimacy between the respondent and J. A. Walter.

Mr. Adams said, "Either the libellant or the respondent was guilty of perjury, and for this perjury there is no excuse. Either the respondent did or did not admit her relations with these men. She swore she did not. She characterized the libellant's story as a conspiracy. Since the trial it has been discovered that she told a neighbor woman substantially what she told the libellant, and said to this neighbor woman, 'I could have told him more if I had had the nerve.' Now," said Mr. Adams, "who is the perjurer?"

"In the face of all this incriminating testimony," continued Mr. Adams, "you said to the jury that the libellant was his own principal witness, and when we went into the hall, at a recess of Court, we found the respondent going into your chambers, apparently making them her headquarters. Then we learned that her attorneys were meeting, or had met in your office on Main street, the evening before the trial, and lastly we witnessed your conduct at the trial. When I am a litigant, I stay away from the Court. Others ought to do so."

Mr. Brown, the only attorney who appeared for the respondent, spoke for three or four minutes and the argument was closed without the court rendering a decision.

Great interest is manifest here to-day over the next step in the proceedings.

The recent fine work of Walter Johnson gives the gate to the talk about Walter going back. Both in pitching and hitting Washington's great star is performing a Johnson.

London, May 22.—Reciting the reasons for decorating Sergt. H. Betts, the Official Gazette says: "Whilst in charge of a platoon he held a position which was very heavily shelled and enflamed by snipers. Locating two of the latter he crawled out in front of the trench and from a very exposed position shot them both with his rifle. On the following evening, under very heavy concentrated shelling, he walked up and down the prados of his trench, encouraging his men and setting them a magnificent example."

Our Italian Allies Make Fine Showing In Parade and Hear Wonderful Speechmaking

ITALY'S PART IN THE WAR

The third anniversary of Italy's entrance into the great war for democracy and freedom throughout the world was properly and patriotically celebrated throughout the length and breadth of the allied countries. Following the lead of President Wilson, the people of this great republic of ours joined heartily with our Italian neighbors in fittingly commemorating this momentous event, and the day was given over to celebration and speech making almost from Maine to California or wherever Italians have settled in our American towns and cities.

All were glad to realize and testify to the fact that the war that will surely be won would probably have been lost without the help of Italy. Italy entered the war at a dark hour for the allies, just before the great battle of the Marne. It was a mid-night telegram from Italy that enabled the French to withdraw all of their cannon and men from the French-Italian frontier knowing that Italy would hold that frontier inviolate. These men and cannon released from duty on the frontier between France and Italy made possible the victory of the Marne and the stopping of the Hun.

From the declaration of war in the spring of 1915 until the fall of 1917 the Italian armies were almost continually on the offensive. They operated on the most difficult terrain in Europe and surmounted hitherto impassable barriers.

We are sure that any one who has intelligently followed the course of the great world war will not fail to recognize that Italy is entitled to a far greater degree of praise than she has so far received.

Let us all be glad that Italy is at last taking her proper place in the affections and the respect of the American people. Clearfield citizens of Italian birth who have attested their loyalty and patriotism on every occasion and opportunity and who have sent more than thirty young men to the battle front in defense of "Old Glory" and the land of their adoption and some of the fifty-eight into the glorious army of Italy, arranged to celebrate this historic anniversary here in Clearfield.

Under the capable direction of Fred Guano and Nick Marate plans were quickly made and a most creditable parade arranged. The local authorities and citizens generally were invited to participate and when the parade started at Third and Reed streets at 7:10 o'clock several hundred persons were in line. Mayor Chase, Postmaster Barclay, the same day.

The evening was delightfully spent in playing games and music also furnished entertainment for the guests.

At a late hour excellent refreshments were served.

BROOKVILLE LAD NOT KILLED BY YOUNG BOYS

All Evidence Points to Older Person or Persons Having Committed the Crime

BOY SUSPECT IS TAKEN

DuBois, May 24.—George Roberts, a 16-year-old boy who has been attracting the attention of the police of this city the past few days, was taken into custody by Patrolman J. E. Brown last evening in the belief that he might be able to throw some light upon the Brookville trunk murder mystery.

The youth was placed in the lockup and questioned at length, giving the police such a mix up of replies to their questions that they notified Sheriff Mayes, of Brookville, this morning and the Jefferson county authorities arrived here this afternoon and took him into custody.

No convincing evidence has been procured from the boy, but it is said that he was in Brookville about the time of the disappearance of the Helmsel boy, although Roberts denies that.

Brookville, May 24.—With the announcement of an offer of $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Harry Helmsel, Jefferson county authorities have openly admitted their utter inability to solve the mystery of the trunk murder that has so aroused the entire region.

The coroner's inquest was thorough. But it failed to develop even the most remote clue and resulted in a verdict of "murder at the hands of unknown persons". The jury delved deeply into every phase of the mystery and emerged from it probe without the slightest ray of light having been thrown upon the affair. In fact the very fact with which the murder was perpetrated and the body hidden within 50 feet of houses, has served to make the mystery deeper than ever. There are some here who believe the mystery will never be solved.

However, the reward of $500 is expected to arouse some action, not only here but in other places.

Drops Through Hole in Fence

Harry Helmsel was ten years old last January. He was a bright, active boy, weight 95 pounds and height about four feet eight inches. Besides

LIGHTNING STRUCK MOHR HOME

A bolt of lightning struck the residence of Henry Mohr on South Fourth street just at 12 o'clock today and shook things up considerably in that vicinity. The fluid followed the steam exhaust pipe down through the roof and aside from ripping a slate or two off and putting the electric light out of commission caused very little damage. The family was just sitting down to the noonday meal and they all suffered a slight shock. Mrs. George Rouch who lives in the adjoining house was in the act of lowering an upstairs window when the lightning struck and she was knocked down by the force of the blow. She was unhurt.

MR. AND MRS. WARD ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward entertained last evening at their home on Clearfield street. The occasion was in honor of both Mr. and Mrs. Ward's birthday anniversary and also their wedding anniversary which falls on the same day.

The evening was delightfully spent in playing games and music also furnished entertainment for the guests.

At a late hour excellent refreshments were served.

THE "HOUSE OF MYSTERY" MYSTERY SOLVED AFTER WEEKS OF EFFORT

Well, we have solved the mystery at last and only after many months of weary "watchful waiting". The "house of mystery" is no longer a mystery to us and we are going to pass that knowledge along to an anxiously awaiting world, especially that portion of it made up of the women, folks along what the effete South Second street residents proudly style "Old Town Road".

The house of mystery is being erected by the members of "The Philadelphia Art Club" as a sort of country home or club, the construction being under the direction of the two resident or local members of that organization, and this location was chosen as a sort of compliment to them and because of the beauty of their town and surroundings; its healthy location, excellent water and other peaceful conditions.

The Philadelphia Art club is composed of a large number of the successful business and professional men of the state, its membership being restricted to those whose finances are in keeping with the general excellence of their character and standing in their respective communities. They maintain a most finely appointed and exclusive club in Philadelphia and the no longer "house of mystery" is being erected as a quiet place in which the membership may vacate or recuperate from time to time.

Membership in the Philadelphia Art club is a guarantee of success and accomplishment in worldly endeavor, its members without exception being qualified to sit down and complacently look back upon difficulties overcome and objectives gained and now that the majority of the members are "too old to go all the gaits," a quiet spot was selected where they can go and sit down in peace and comfort, surrounded by their cronies, live again in memories enchanted realms the many battles, failures and successes of the past.

We have not been favored with a look in at the new club house but we are assured by those who have seen its wonders that it is "some place" alright. We are told that its erection and finishing will mean an outlay of close to $50,000 and are also informed that some ten or a dozen local men will be taken in as resident members of the organization, but as the initiation fee and annual dues named reaches proportions commensurate to the advantages to be gained by membership in this noted organization we fear there will be few, very few, newspaper men in the lineup when the roll is called. But darn it we finally solved that mystery, but it took some time, and guess we only found out at that because the people "in the know" were about ready to let it go.

RED CROSS ACTIVITY GETTING RESULTS

Lumber City

J. E. McKinley, the works superintendent, has the work in charge here and his organization is getting under way for their drive on the first line trenches. They will go over the top and bring back the money.

Karhaus

Reports from Chairman Potter are meagre but from the way "Bill" usually does things when the smoke of the drive clears away there will be something doing in the way of real subscriptions.

Pottersdale

Chairman McGonigal isn't going to take any chances on the two young huskies of his that are over there having to be in want of the good things that the Red Cross can do for them. Having done his bit in furnishing two fighters he is going to see that they get good care.

New Washington

Mrs. Thomas R. Mahaffey is doing fine at this place and the reports coming in are just the kind the local headquarters like to hear.

LaJose

The speakers sent here from Clearfield found, to their disappointment, that the meeting had not been thoroughly advertised. Chas. Dutra, the man in charge of the work, however, has arranged for a rousing meeting on Monday night and they will doubtless make up for the lost time on Friday.

Westlover

This tannery town is in charge of Mrs. A. B. Moore and she has her corps of workers working night and day to get their town over the top. They must be working hard as they have asked the headquarters for supplies and they already had been sent enough to do the trick.

Jeffries

John Davis, who has the work in charge here, has thus far turned in no reports but we have all sorts of confidence in Davis and know that he will be in with a dandy when the final count is turned in.

New Millport

Dr. Erhard is the chairman here and is meeting with great success. His meetings have all been well attended and he reports that New Millport will be heard from when the final count is made.

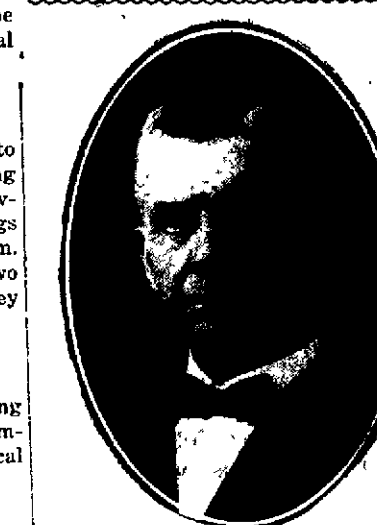

Tallen Timber

W. I. Carmen is a pleasant worker to have in this territory and he is giving the executive committee all kinds of support. His work at Allensville was a surprise indeed and he deserves all sorts of praise for the manner in which it was done.

E. M. FULLINGTON DIES AT HIS HOME

Emerson Fullington who has been seriously ill for the past several months, passed peacefully away at 10:20 o'clock this morning at his home on Cherry street surrounded by his loved ones.

He had been in failing health for more than a year and recently consulted specialists in different sections of the country in the hope of regaining his health but it was of no avail.

and he returned home from Philadelphia several weeks ago. He was taken to the Clearfield hospital, but asked to be returned home about ten days ago, as he realized that nothing could be done for him and the end was rapidly approaching. He suffered a stroke early this morning.

Emerson Fullington was a son of the late Luke and Sarah Fullington and came from New York state to Clearfield county with the family in the early '70s. He was sober, industrious, honest and upright in all his dealings and by his industry and plies and they already had been sent enough to do the trick.

Quint and unassuming he at the same time took more than a passing interest in the public welfare and was generally respected as an upright, good citizen. His family have the sympathy of all in their bereavement.

The deceased was about 62 years of age and leaves to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father a widow, three sons and five daughters, viz: Al and Richard of Clearfield and J. Roy in the National army at Camp Lee, Va., and Misses Nora C., Mattie, Edna, Gladys and Lena all at home.

He also survived by one sister Mrs. John Keller of Hilldale, and two brothers Charles and Martin of Clearfield.

Funeral announcement later.

FREE BAKING DEMONSTRATION TUESDAY

How To Use Wheat Flour Substitutes Will Be Explained Thoroughly By Expert

HOUSEWIVES SHOULD ATTEND

Bread, the "Staff of Life," the chief food of the human race, found on the table of every home, has its important place in this great war for democracy. Perhaps nothing concerned the American housewife as much as when the need for conserving the wheat supply became as necessary, for it meant a new way of bread baking.

It found the housewife unprepared. For years she had been baking bread with wheat flour only. The old-time recipe she had always used, one perhaps her mother had given her, was a sure and safe method. She knew, from many years of experience, that the bread always turned out good—that it would be light and wholesome and deliciously tempting and pleasing to her family. And, until this great war came, she baked bread in the manner she had always done. It became a fixed habit, a second nature, an intuition that called for no printed recipe to follow. Her bread baking was a pleasure.

But the war abruptly ended all this. Over in suffering Europe, starving severely tried and in anguish, came the soul-distressing cry for more wheat. There was but one country in the world that Europe could look to for help. The United States, the great wheat-producing nation, suddenly found itself confronted with an appeal for assistance. Our Allies firm in the belief that we would respond, generously and immediately asked for wheat—millions and millions of bushels.

A great moral duty was before us. Typical of the American spirit, we said we could and would furnish the wheat without delay.

Then came the important ruling from the U. S. Food Administration asking the American housewife to "do her bit" by purchasing wheat flour on the pound for pound basis of substitutes. It was the only way to solve the problem of conserving the wheat supply—to use less wheat in home bread baking. Old-time methods were to be discarded and a new one employed.

The response was wonderful but pitiful. Much to her disappointment, the American housewife discovered substitute bread did not turn out as good—it tasted badly—it was heavy and her family did not like it. There fine were spoiled batches—the substitutes were high-priced and there was no economy in bread baking. She concluded good bread could not be made from substitutes and consequently substitutes were not so generously used in home bread baking. The natural result was, real conservation of wheat did not transpire.

Wheat Flour Substitutes Easy To Use

It is easy to use substitutes. Every bit as easy as any method you have ever used. Whether you use corn flour, corn meal, barley flour, rolled oats, potato flour, hominy or what not good delicious bread can be baked with them in any home.

It is simply a matter of knowing how—a few simple points that are easily understood. To show Clearfield housewives just how to do it, arrangements have been made to conduct a special baking demonstration at Clearfield High School Auditorium on Tuesday, May 28th, where wheat flour substitutes will be used in bread baking. An expert baker, who has worked out a special recipe and method will show and explain the entire process—from the making of the sponge to the finished loaf of bread. Several substitutes will be used and the how and where fore of a few important points necessary to obtain good results will be shown and explained in detail. The substitute bread will be made up and baked in a gas stove oven before your very eyes.

This demonstration has been conducted elsewhere and has proven wonderfully helpful to thousands of housewives. It is being conducted with the express purpose of assisting the U. S. Food Administration in conserving the wheat supply by teaching housewives that substitutes can be used successfully. You will be most agreeably surprised to see how easily good bread can be made with substitutes and it is an opportunity you do not want to miss.

Another important feature brought out in this demonstration, is the little time it takes to bake bread. This expert's method cuts the time down to a minimum—it takes out the former "all day task" in bread baking and makes it a pleasure in that it requires less time and assures perfect results.

Come to this demonstration. It will show you how you can use the substitutes you must buy and at the same time helps you to do your bit in knowing how to conserve the wheat supply for our Allies and the boys over there. There is no admission charge. Everybody is welcome.

Mrs. Maud Gansler, in charge of the work here, had arranged for a meeting here on Wednesday evening but on account of the inclemency of the weather the speakers were unable to get there. Asked for a meeting last night but there were no speakers available so her good husband, Henry B., stepped into the breach and did the talking. He must be good for the reports from there are something fine.

The planting of tomatoes this Spring is much earlier than usual. This has been due to the unusual seasonal conditions that have prevailed. Most gardeners seem to feel that there will be no break from warm to cold weather, at least not to the extent of bringing heavy frosts. Nevertheless there is no assurance that a disastrous change will not occur. Records show that in this locality, Clearfield county and adjacent areas, killing frosts occur after the 25th of May in at least three years out of four, and, indeed, they came in nearly as large proportion after the first of June. A series of destructive frosts occurred a few years ago on the 8th 9th and 10th of June. This does not argue that no tomatoes should be planted in gardens before the tenth of June but it does suggest the wisdom of providing protection for them if the disaster threatens.

A common practice among market gardeners but not generally known by the family garden maker is as follows: With a broad bladed hoe draw a low mound of loose soil against one side of the plant. Then with one hand bend the plant downward across the mound and with the other hand draw a covering of soil over the plant. Usually two movements of the hoe are enough for the whole operation. The soil need not be over one inch deep but should cover the whole plant, every leaf, to insure no damage. If there is danger of frost the next night also, the plants will not suffer if left under the cover through the day. Indeed it sometimes is necessary to keep them under the protection for three nights in succession, though they suffer some from the long confinement in cramped position and dampness.

More care must be used in uncovering the plants than in covering them, lest they be broken. Often the safest plan is to do it with hands alone, gently removing the soil and straightening out the stem and leaves, but on a large scale it can be done with a hoe cautiously used. The writer once covered 700 plants in two hours, after dark, with a lantern and cut of the entire lot lost by blight only two plants.

Of course other coverings may be used. Of these a few suggestions may be in place. Metal vessels such as pans or buckets are usually worse than nothing. If the frost is likely to be severe the entire plant should be shut in. If only a gentle frost is expected a broad covering over the plant will suffice. Newspapers are quite effective if at least two thicknesses are used and three would be safer. The air or small stones on the edges of the paper will be needed to keep them in place. Oil sacks, pieces of burlap or other cloths are safe protections against ordinary frosts but their effectiveness is much more than doubled if they are used in two thicknesses. A little head room between the plant and the covering seems to reduce the danger of damage.

But how are we to know when there is to be a frost? A first rate plan with reference to this question is to adopt the motto "Safety First." No one can present a reliable rule for predicting a frost. One little aid in that direction is this: whenever mercury hovers around 50 at sundown there is danger of frost. If it is below fifty the danger becomes almost a certainty, that is, if the evening is clear and crisp. But don't DON'T accept this as a sure enough clue for your garden. Sometimes the temperature varies as much as six or eight degrees at places fifty yards apart. A rapidly rising barometer is another danger signal. In some of the valleys along the larger streams fogs are a frequent complete protection, but only when the conditions of the earth and the atmosphere are right to produce fog. The experienced market gardener makes a daily study of the weather notes in the newspapers and acquires a knowledge of the habits of the thing we call the weather, not only for his section of the country but for the larger areas from which his weather changes come, especially the west and northwest when the question is to cover or not to cover the plants.

Grampian

Our old friend and standby, Jacob Secor, is in direct charge here and has as his assistants, Ralph Stearns, E. F. Williams and J. N. Butler. They have even a limited supply for the complete team. LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

LETTER FROM CHAS. STOUGHTON

Paris Island, S. C.

Dear Brother and all the Rest: I have received a couple letters and cards from you and certainly was glad to get them. Our battalion moved to another camp last night. We had to walk about 5 miles with a 60 pound pack on our back and a rifle. I have a peach of a rifle and I long for the day when I can shoot it at a target or better still a Hun. We will be in France pretty soon.

I got a roll of papers this evening and was glad to get them. The only fault, I could find was that I couldn't eat them. We get very little sweet stuff here and it costs like the deuce at the canteen. What you buy don't taste like the home made things either and I am pretty near broke and will make to buy stamps, so if you have any extra sugar send me something real sweet. Some cake or candy. I was vaccinated for smallpox and it didn't take. I have had two inoculations and they didn't hurt me except to make my arm stiff. I will get another one on Saturday. I hope everyone feels as good as I do. I hope the kids are over their cold. No one should worry about me.

Must close for this time. Very truly CHARLES

Numerous inquiries have come to the Food Administration asking why rye flour was removed from the list of substitutes for wheat flour. On May 1 it was estimated that there remained but 16,000,000 bushels of rye in the United States. Against this amount our normal consumption of rye from May 1 to August 1 amounts to 1,000,000 bushels. If rye flour had been continued on the substitute list our available supply would not have lasted one month. In order to save the complete team, this is a great working combination and they are doing great work. They have also added C. A. Woods and Cal Brown, who are 100 per cent Americans and this will make a great outfit to send Grampian over the top.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stinson, Jr. left today for an auto trip to Lewis town where they will spend a few days visiting friends.

American business has been motorized. For both short and long hauls the gasoline truck has proven itself a thoroughly efficient form of transportation. And no intelligent field Executive would dream of tackling his job without the proper equipment—a dependable touring car or roadster.

It would amaze you to know how many Lawyers, Doctors, Architects, Contractors and Specialty Salesmen have adopted the Paige. These men have bought their cars for active service, and they have been influenced in their selection by practical considerations only. They deliberately sought out the car that would offer the greatest dollar-for-dollar value—and they found it in the Paige.

Lieutenant Torrey Webb, of the aviation section of the United States Signal Corps, was the pilot who took the first pouch of mail to the National Capitol.

SUDDEN DEATH OF GILBERT HOOVER

While helping to load hay on a wagon at his farm home at Sylvan Grove, near Kylertown, Tuesday afternoon, May 21st, 1918, Gilbert Hoover, one of the best known residents of Cooper township, was stricken with heart failure, and died immediately. He had apparently been in the best of health, and his sudden death was a great surprise and shock to the entire community.

Gilbert Hoover was a son of Jeremiah Hoover, one of the old pioneers of Cooper township (Hoover, Suffern, N. Y.) and was born seventy-four years ago last November. He has lived in that neighborhood all his life. His wife, who was Miss Marjorie Zimmerman, died nine years ago. He is survived by the following sons and daughters, viz: Samuel Hoover, of Diaz, Wash.; Ira of Sylvan Grove, N. Y.; Boyd of DuBois; Mrs. Elmer Merrill, of Clearfield, Wash.; Mrs. Guy Johnson, of Grass Flat, and Miss Alta, at home. Also these brothers and sisters survive: Henry, of Clearfield; Wilson and John, of Sylvan Grove; George, of Karthaus; Mrs. M. E. Murray, and Mrs. Henry Meyer, of Diaz, Wash.

The deceased was a successful farmer and an honored and highly respected citizen. His death has caused genuine sorrow throughout the neighborhood in which he was so well and favorably known. He was quite well known in Clearfield, where his friends have learned of his sudden demise with surprise and regret. The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Funeral services in charge of Rev. Durkee, of the Munson Methodist Episcopal church, were held on Friday afternoon.

THE BIG PARADE

Talk about your big parades; I've got one in my mind That puts to shame the Caesars' shades, And leaves the stars behind!

It passes 'neath the Linden trees And over Wilhelm street, With banners waving in the breeze, And tramp of marching feet.

I see the British Union Jack, The noble flag of France, The Belgian red and gold and black, Floats by before my glance.

I hear the highland Scottish pipes, And—what is this I see? Ahead of all—the Stars and Stripes, The ensign of the free!

Here's to The Day when this parade Shall march through old Berlin, To make all onerous afraid, And welcome Freedom in!

GERMAN SOLDIERS ON EAST FRONT MUTINY

Washington, May 21.—Mutiny has broken out among German soldiers in the east, according to State Department messages today. The Russian message, dated May 19, said a German division at Dvinsk had revolted when ordered to leave for the western front. Sixty soldiers were shot and more than a thousand put in prison to await court martial. Others made demonstrations against action of the German commanders. The 56 Infantry regiment at Wessenburg and other German regiments organized a meeting to protest against the continuance of the war.

and in the line up were the two local Italian lodges and the citizens of Italian birth and their families to the number of several hundred. Following these were another delegation of citizens led by Hon. Matt Savage and headed by the Kerr Addition drum corps. The Independent Military company had arranged to participate but misunderstanding the starting hour were unable to get in line in time.

The parade traversed the principal streets and elicited much applause along the line of march, the delegation of Red Cross ladies making an especially pleasing appearance. It was a highly creditable showing and the Italian people are deserving of every praise for their patriotic spirit.

One thing that was particularly noticeable and most favorably commented upon was the fact that almost every adult member of the parade wore a Liberty Loan button and a Red Cross badge on his coat lapel. This was also a revelation to some people who in their ignorance presume to look down on the Italian citizen as not being our equal in all things, forgetting or never having learned that when France, England and Germany were inhabited by savages and this country utterly unknown, Italy was a great civilization of artists, law makers, great warriors and statesmen, and that Italy today is a great civilization of scientists and patriots of courage and devotion to the world's democracy.

The parade ended at the courthouse corner and when the assembly had been massed about the stand there Mayor Chase rapped for order and after the rendering of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the band, made a brief address of welcome and complimented the Italians on their patriotism and fine appearance on this occasion.

Mayor Chase then introduced John M. Bain of the county Public Safety committee as the first speaker of the evening. Mr. Bain made an excellent address in which he spoke of the devotion of the Italian-American to his adopted country and flag. He was followed by Hon. Matt Savage of the Public Spirit, who added his mood of praise and good wishes for Italy and the success of our allies. Fred Guarino then addressed the assembly in Italian, and after the rendering of the Royal Italian march by the band and an announcement concerning Memorial day by Mayor Chase the exercises were concluded with "America" by the band, the audience joining.

Italy began her fourth year of the war yesterday in better fighting trim than she has been in since casting her lot with the allies in the defense of civilization. The battle front from west of Lake Garda, through the northern mountains and down the Piave River to the Adriatic is strongly held on all its 400 odd miles. Fighting shoulder to shoulder with the Italians are numerous British and French detachments which went to the rescue last November in the dark days of the 100-mile retreat from the shattered Isonzo front. Recently a German newspaper reported the presence of some American troops in Italy. This Spring found the Italians on the initiative. They recently captured Monte Corno which dominates the vital Arsa Valley. Monte Grappa the key to the mountain front, has withstood the Teutons' heaviest attacks.

Prof. Giovanni Sartorio and his Clearfield Italian band were complimented highly by every speaker for their patriotic generosity in furnishing music free of charge for every patriotic or public occasion. The band is making fine progress under Prof. Sartorio's instruction and is a credit to our town and especially the Italian people.

Across the Seas They Call

ACROSS the seas from every war-torn nation in the Allied cause there comes the call for Red Cross help.

It comes from soldiers who have grimly faced the gleaming bayonet steel and poison gas and screaming shells, and who now lie with parching throats and throbbing wounds.

It comes from soldiers sick with fever, pneumonia, tuberculosis.

It comes from soldiers crippled, mutilated, blinded, who can no longer fight and must be taught and trained for useful occupations.

It comes from the underfed, shivering, helpless prisoners in the German prison camps.

It comes from little children, orphaned, homeless, slowly starving day by day, by tens and tens of thousands.

It comes from mothers in the pillaged zones of war whose hearts and souls have been made numb with horror.

From all these millions of suffering human beings there comes across the seas the call for help—help that because of the frightful burdens placed upon our Allies cannot be given unless it be provided by the American Red Cross.

Another hundred million is needed to "carry on."

What will America's answer be?

Every cent of every dollar received for the Red Cross War Fund goes for War Relief.

The American Red Cross is the largest and most efficient organization for the relief of suffering that the World has ever seen.

It is made up almost entirely of volunteer workers, the higher executives being without exception men accustomed to large affairs, who are in almost all cases giving their services without pay.

It is supported entirely by its membership fees and by voluntary contributions.

It is today bringing relief to suffering humanity, both military and civil, in every War torn allied country. It plans tomorrow to help in the work of restoration throughout the world.

It feeds and clothes entire populations in times of great calamity.

It is there to help your soldier boy in his time of need.

With its thousands of workers, its tremendous stores and smooth running transportation facilities, it is serving as America's advance guard—and thus helping to win the war.

Congress authorizes it.

President Wilson heads it.

The War Department audits its accounts.

Your Army, your Navy and your Allies enthusiastically endorse it.

Twenty-two million Americans have joined it.

ALLPORT SOLDIER DIES AT HIS HOME

Elmer Shields, 24 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shields, of Allport, died at the home of his parents, at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, May 21, 1918. He was one of the Morris township boys in the draft last year and was called into service last fall, having been stationed at Camp Lee, Virginia, for training. About four weeks ago he came home on a furlough. He was not well at the time, and almost immediately became seriously ill, the dreaded disease spinal meningitis, having developed.

The Moshannon Chapter of the Red Cross at once supplied a nurse and skilled physicians were called to attend him any everything possible was done to alleviate his sufferings.

Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers and three sisters, viz: Emory in the U. S. service, stationed at Panama; Vernoni of Altoona; Mrs. Viola Hoover, of Kylertown; Mrs. Helen Hoover, of Kylertown and Miss Maud Shields, at home.

Because of the contagious nature of the disease which caused the young soldier's death, the funeral was private and burial was made on Wednesday afternoon. The sympathy of the whole community goes to the family who are in grief over the death of this loved son and brother, who was a young man of many fine christian qualities which made him a large number of friends.

Twelve Tire Tests No. 4

Tube-Life

YOU have often noticed that ordinary gray rubber bands grow brittle with age—especially if exposed to heat and the sun's rays. So with inner tubes. The heat developed in tires while driving, and the disintegrating effects of time render many inner tubes brittle and porous, thus destroying their usefulness.

The test herein described was made by Michelin engineers to help you determine the durability of various makes of inner tubes.

Each of the tubes shown was made by a company, half a Michelin Tube to half a tube of another make this other make being different in each case.

The tubes were then run to destruction on the road under normal conditions. One by one the other sections blew out while the Michelin sections remained intact.

Michelin Tubes are used by the great majority of motorists today, and have proved themselves most durable and economical.

This series of twelve tests is designed to take the uncertainty out of tire-buying.

RED CROSS FIFTY DOLLARS TO GOOD RESULT OF FIGHT

Over at Tyler in Huston township they have a veritable Congress of nations in their population and as a result the Red Cross has been the official judge of administrator of the peace is required to assume the responsibilities of a peace officer among the polyglot peoples making up his clientele.

The good, gray justice is a wise counsellor and an impartial judge and when he is called upon to act as mediator in an arbitration concerning two or more of the different European races existing there his temple and throne of justice is always crowded by an eager populace anxious to drink in the words of wisdom as they fall from the lips of the Donatelli monarch of history Kingdom oracles. That is about the only drinking done around there too, since the town went dry a year or so ago.

The judge was called upon to solve a difficult problem yesterday and acquitted himself so well that a Clearfield citizen who happened in Tyler followed the crowd and was a living witness of the efficient old justice in action, give us the dope for this tale. He had a particular snotty case on hand, too. That is, there were knots standing out all over the ivory domes of both parties to the controversy.

The principals were Mrs. John Hydock, weight 156 lbs., and Tony Amerella, 155 lbs. The nation's representative were Austria and Italy. To trouble to get a scrawl here under existing circumstances. The trouble arose over the children. The trouble makers ran true to form and Austria outclassed or outwitted Italy, and when Tony's kids got versed in the encounter, he went to the Hydock home to lodge a complaint. When he arrived there he found Mrs. Hydock to be some "lodge" herself. She succeeded in lodging the brown stick on Tony's head several times and soon Alpine promontories appeared all over Italy. When Tony became a bit groggy the woman dropped her broom and proceeded to belabor him with her fists. Our ally reserved his fast waning strength for a final come-back and ending a chair, brought it down on the Austrian's head and she succumbed to painful dreams.

Tony was promptly arrested on information made by the woman's husband and entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Judge Kitchner. He offered $100 in settlement of the damage. When Mrs. Hydock recovered from the knock out blow and was told of Tony's offer she promptly rejected all thought of even so much the father and mother there are two other children in the family, Paul, aged eight and a girl, aged six. The father is a contracting driller. Last fall the family moved to this place from Kane, Pa.

On Sunday, May 12, Harry, according to the story of the father, left the house at about 1:30 in the afternoon and going through a hole in the fence at a distance of about 40 feet from the house, he suddenly dropped from view and no one has been found who positively knows of seeing the boy after that time. He was in his bare feet, no hat or cap on his head, had on a blue sweater, blue short trousers and a suit of underclothing. No other clothing of any kind.

On Sunday afternoon the boys of the neighborhood usually gather to play ball in a field to the rear of the barn. The father thought the boy had gone to play with these boys but none of them saw him nor did he make his appearance there. From the house to where the boys were playing was probably a little more than 100 yards. His brother, Paul, was playing ball with the other boys but he says Harry did not come to the ball ground.

As to how the boy met death and at whose hands there are only theories, and anyone basing an opinion has very little besides the facts given herewith. Sheriff M. G. Mayes has been untiring in his search for information but like all the others he has not been able to place his hands on anything tangible.

Most people are pretty thoroughly convinced that it was not the work of boys. Very few people know of the location of the trunk in the barn, and who did were mostly boys, having seen it when they were playing around the premises. No one or even two small boys could take the body up the steep and narrow stairs. If the boy was killed during the daytime the body would undoubtedly be taken to the barn at night. Boys are not going to go in a dark place with a body, jam it fast in a trunk and take time to fasten the catches, especially so at night. This hardly looks plausible. It was a hard job to kill as strong a boy as Harry, if he was murdered, and it would require a large sized boy to do it or a man. The intention apparently was to convey the impression that he was drowned and like so many things in mysterious cases, the perpetrator did not know sufficient of medical science to be aware that in almost every case the lungs of a person dying by drowning are filled with water.

WOULD KEEP THEIR SLAVES

(By United Press)

Paris, May 25.—German farmers do not want an exchange of prisoners of war with Russia.

The exchange was provided for in the peace treaty of Brest-Litovsk, and already has started.

There is a general protest among the German farmers, who are getting their work done for nothing, or for a nominal wage, by Russian prisoners of war, who practically are slaves in Germany.

The farmers claim that if they are deprived of this slave labor before September the results will be disastrous upon the food production. German papers recently received here give considerable prominence to this question.

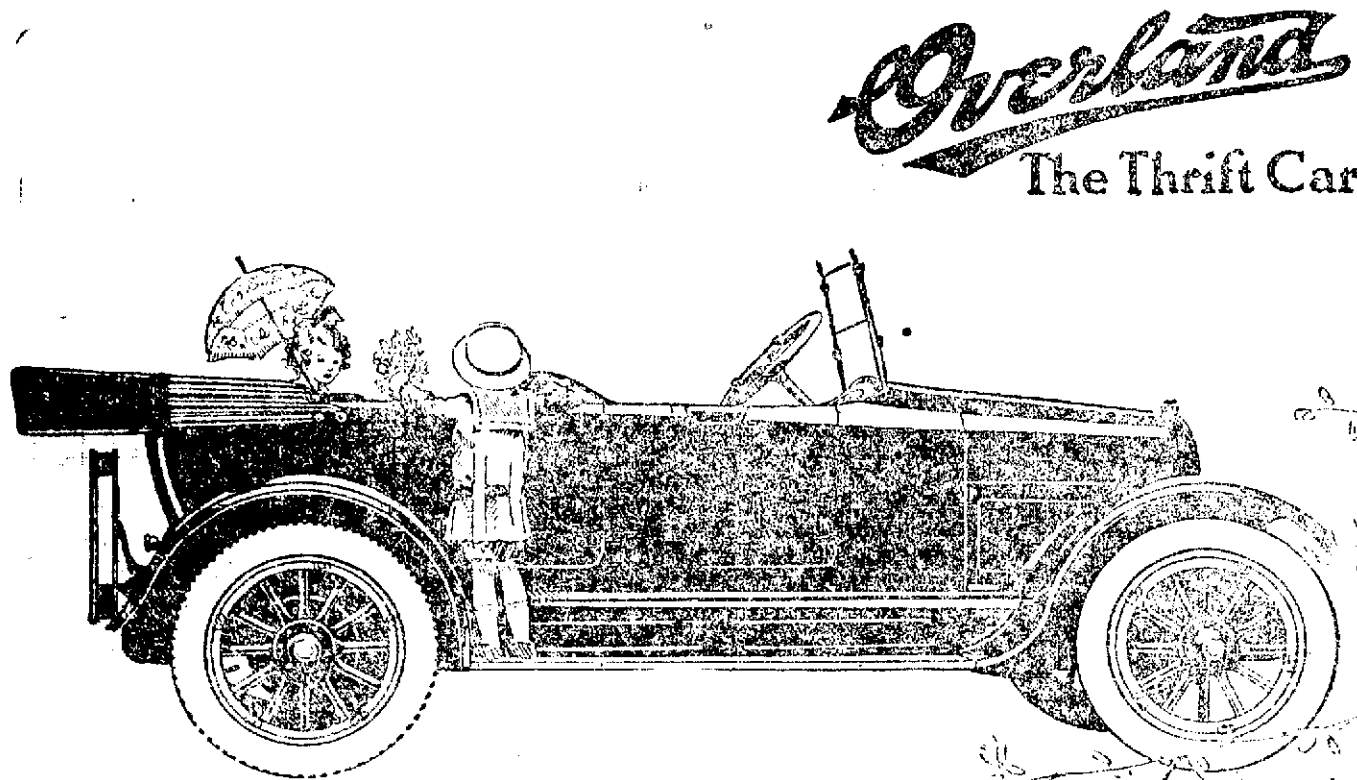

Put that want ad in the Progress and get results.

WRITE THEM A LETTER TONIGHT

Don't go to the theatre, concert or ball,
But stay in your room tonight;
Deny yourself to the friends that call
And a good long letter write.
Write to the sad old folks at home,
Why it when the day is done,
With folded arms in the old arm chair
And think of the absent ones.

Don't selfishly scribble, "Excuse my haste,
I have hardly time to write;"
Let their thoughts go wandering back

To many a bygone night
When they lost their needed sleep and rest,
And every breath was a prayer
That God would spare their darling child
To their tender love and care.

Don't let them feel that you've no need
For their love and counsel wise,
For the heart grows strangely sensible
When age has dimmed the eyes.
It might be well to let them know
You never forget them quite;
That you deem it a pleasure when far away
Long letters home to write.

The duty of writing do not put off,
Let sleep or pleasure wait;
Let the letter for which they longed
And looked,
Be a day or an hour too late.
For the loving old folks at home
With looks past turning white,
Are longing to hear from the absent ones—
Write them a letter tonight.

The First Day Doesn't Count
When you judge varnish you must wait more than a day to pass the verdict.
Nearly all varnishes look alike when first applied. But when time and exposure have tried and tested them, then it is that quality tells—then there is only one that you could choose for future use—

Cosmoline
And even the first day there is something in the full, even lustre of Cosmoline that is missing in other varnishes.
Cosmoline is a tough, elastic finish for all surfaces requiring varnish indoor or out. It is not affected by hot or cold soapy water, sunshine, alcohol or alkali and will not crack or peel. Translucent as a sheet of plate glass, it enhances the beauty of wood grain and decorations and preserves woodwork from the ravages of time.
For all "varnish" work use Cosmoline—"with the man on the case."

Heal Skin Diseases
It is unnecessary for you to suffer with eczema, blotches, ringworm, rashes and other skin troubles. A little cream applied at any drug store for 35c, or 1.00 for extra large bottle, and promptly will usually give instant relief from itching torture. It cleanses and soothes the skin and heals quickly and effectively most skin diseases.
It is a wonderful, penetrating, dissolving liquid and is soothing to the delicate skin. It is not greasy, is applied and costs little. Get it and save all further distress.

RUSSIA HAS MUNICIPAL POUND FOR KIDS

Arthur Brisbane is authority for the following:
News comes from Russia that seems strange to those that do not know of old laws.
Anarchistic revolutionists in charge of government at Saratov have made marriage illegal. The man who claims his wife as his own is guilty of sabotage and must go to jail.
Children are the property of the state, and will be brought up in groups, like the small chickens you have seen in the tin brooders of Madison street shop windows.
Women having "more than five children" are supposed to have done their duty, and may do as they please. Others, when politely requested, must add to the population —which is multiplying T. R.'s race, suicide theories by a million and going very far, indeed.
Babies one month old go to a people's crib where they are raised for the state until seventeen years of age.
The mother of twins gets a national gift of 200 roubles, worth just now about twenty-five dollars in real money. The revolution can't be accused of extravagance.
Workingmen must set aside two per cent. of their earnings to help raise the nation's babies. The prosperous class must pay in one hundred roubles per month, all must be careful about their health—and the revolution feels that it has made great stride toward democracy and general happiness.

CONTRACTS FOR COMPLETION OF LEONARD BRIDGE

The County Commissioners received bids yesterday morning at eleven o'clock for filling the approaches, and paving the four span concrete bridge over Clearfield Creek at Leonard station.
Messrs. Whittaker & Diehl, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, being the lowest bidders, were awarded the paving contract in the sum of $3600 and the filling went to Lord & Cummings, of Hastings, Pennsylvania.
Sixty days time has been allowed for the completion of the work.
The Pennsylvania Railroad company and the New York Central Railroad company having been ordered by the Public Service Commission early in the year to remove the embankment on the approaches to their respective railroads, have their portion of the work surveyed, and have been negotiating with contractors for carrying out that part of the improvement.
We look forward to an early completion of the entire contract, which when finished will be a decided improvement over the dangerous grade crossings and sharp curves to which the public has been exposed for many years. The County Commissioners should be congratulated for having taken steps to make this much needed change, and furnish the public with a beautiful structure, which is a great credit to Clearfield county and the pride of its inhabitants.

ROCKTON YOUTH HURT UNDER AUTO TRUCK, DIES

Cecil Taylor, a 16 year old Rockton boy, died Thursday morning in the local hospital, where he had been receiving treatment for the past four days for injuries to his pelvic organs he received when he fell under a heavy auto last Saturday.
The lad was on his way home from work in a clay mine when a truck came along and he attempted to board it. He missed his hold, however and fell under the wheels, which passed over his body below the waist. He was rushed to the local hospital where his condition was at once declared to be critical and, despite the best efforts that were made, death resulted.

VIBERG—BANNON

Miss Helen Viberg, daughter of Mrs. Charles Viberg of Leavy avenue and Frank Bannon of the U. S. A. were united in marriage this morning at nine o'clock at the St. Francis church by the Rev. M. A. Ryan.
The groom has been stationed at Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas, and is a member of Battery B, 21st Field Artillery and arrived home last evening from New York on a forty-eight hour furlough, having just arrived there for "over seas" service.
The young couple have the best wishes of a wide circle of friends here.

PATRIOTIC YOUNG LADIES

Little Misses Grace Boyce, Mable
Buchanan, Ruth Seprce, Amy Pe-

Anna Quigley are patriotic young ladies. The other evening they serviced Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wilson and received $3.00 in cash from the newlyweds. They promptly visited the home of Mrs. Richard Gilbert on Turnpike avenue and turned the money over to the Red Cross.

RED CROSS AT CURRY RUN

The people of Greenwood township gathered at the M. E. Church in Curry Run Friday evening to attend a meeting in the interest of the Red Cross. Max Johnston had charge of exercises and the Mahaffey orchestra under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs.
Brown furnished delightful music, ably assisted by the Mahaffey quartette, who favored with the latest patriotic songs.

Rev. Hartman presided and a pleasing program was carried out by the young ladies of the community. Rev.
Jno. C. Collins delivered the principal address and subscriptions totaling $150 were lifted. Rev. Collins and L. C. Morris, of Clearfield, represented the local Red Cross chapter at the meeting.

MARINES IN DRIVE FOR COLLEGE MEN

The U. S. Marine Corps will make a "spring drive" for college men. A number of university and college graduates now in the Corps are being sent both to their old schools and nearby recruiting stations to thoroly explain to members of the graduating and other classes the many advantages of the Marine Corps.
A special feature of their work will be to enroll a few men for the aviation branch of the Corps. They will search particularly among successful athletes for applicants for this branch.

After their application has been successfully passed, the men will be sent to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology enrolled as gunnery sergeants. Then they will go to the flying school and, if successful will be commissioned second lieutenants.

Many of the collegians who do not desire to enter the aviation are planning to enter the Marine Corps and work their way into the Marine Officer's Training Schools, which are held every three months for enlisted men only.

Eddie Mahan, Harvard football star; Harry Legore, Yale crack; Johnny Overton, crack Yale runner; Johnny Beckett, Oregon University football star; "Pup" Phillips, Georgia Tech's sensational football star and Pete Garlow, Carlisle Indian star, are a few of the noted college athletes now wearing the uniform of the Marine Corps.

TRINITY CHURCH

The morning sermon at Trinity Methodist church will be the fifth of a series on the Beatitudes. The subject is "The Merciful Man" with special application to the Red Cross work.

The evening sermon will be appropriate to memorial day, the subject being "The Effect of War on Religion."

Mrs. H. J. Flegel entertained a number of the ladies of the Trinity Methodist Sunday school last evening at her home on Gulch avenue.

The ladies were invited to bring their sewing and knitting and thus spent a most enjoyable evening.
Refreshments were served.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson 8—Second Quarter, May 26, 1918.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Text of the Lesson, Mark 12:1-12—
Memory Verses, Mark 12:29-31—
Golden Text, Mark 12:17—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Although the lesson verses assigned to us are but few out of this chapter, I feel led to consider the whole chapter, and this we will endeavor to do. The parable of the wicked husbandman, the topic of lesson verses 1-12, was one of many parables which he spoke to them during that last week, in all of which they might have seen themselves and their treatment of him, if they had eyes to see, and ears to hear, and were not so utterly blind and deaf. The parable of the two sons (Matt. 21:28-32), in which he taught that it was easier to save the openly wicked than self-righteous people, was probably spoken just before the parable of our lesson, which is found also in Matt. 21 and Luke 20, and clearly sets forth Israel's treatment of him as the Lord of the vineyard. In Isa. 5:7 it is written "the vineyard of the Lord of Hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah his pleasant plant," and he asks
"What could have been done more to my vineyard, that I have not done in it?" yet instead of fruit it only received wild grapes. The situation is summed up in 2 Chron. 36:15, 16, where it is written that although he had compassion on his people, and on his dwelling place, and zealously sent them many messengers, they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused his prophets, until the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, till there was no remedy. Then followed the seventy years' captivity (2 Chr. 36:21). In the parable of today's lesson the story is brought down to his own time, and the rejection of himself as the well-beloved son and heir, and the consequent giving of the vineyard to others (vs. 6-9).
In Matt. 21:43 his saying is "The kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof," so that Israel has lost something which might have been hers, and yet he has not cast her off forever. See Rom. 11: 1, 12; 15: 25, 26.
It was all foreseen and foretold, and the rejected stone of Israel has become the chief stone of a new foundation, and when the church has been completed, and presented to himself, a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing, then shall he come as the stone without hands, and break in pieces all kingdoms, and set up his own kingdom, which shall never be destroyed. Vss.
12; 1 Cor. 3:11; Eph. 5:27; Dan.
2:44, 45. See also Ps. 118:22.

In verses 13-34, the Pharisees and Herodians, and the Sadducees, and the scribes, all seek to entangle him in his talk, and catch him in his words.
How utterly unbearable would all such conduct be to all but himself, yet he came to save even such as these, but they would not have him.

Following the parable of the vineyard it is probable that he spoke the parable of the marriage of the king's son (Matt. 22:1-14), in which he set forth their rejection of all his provision for them. As to the Sadducees, who did not believe in any resurrection nor in angels nor spirits (vs. 18; Acts 23: 9) and who came with their foolish question about the woman who had seven husbands; his answer to them was, "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God" (vs.
24 and Matt. 12:20). Although in the resurrection there will be neither marrying, nor giving in marriage, he did not say that those who are specially dear to each other here will not be as dear there; and I like to think of the way he loved to reunite families down here and give back their loved ones,
as in the case of Jairus, the widow, and Bethany. As to those whom we call dead being now alive, and in due time the resurrection of their bodies, see vs. 25-27. The question of the scribe seemed more honest, and he seemed to understand in some measure, but there is no contradiction in our Lord's reply to the great truth that the law cannot give life, and that Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth (vs. 28-34; Gal. 3:21, 22; Rom. 10:4).

Verses 35-37 are more fully recorded in Matt. 22:41-46, and the great question is, "What think ye of Christ?" or Pilate's question, "What shall I do with Jesus, who is called Christ?" (Matt.
27:11-14). Note his quotation from Ps.
110:1, and think of him as still at the right hand of the Father, waiting for the time of his kingdom. As it is written in Heb. 10:12, 13, "From henceforth expecting till his enemies be made his footstool."

In verses 38-40 he warns against the hypocrisy of a mere formal and outward religion, which loves a religious display, and for a pretense makes long prayers, while at the same time oppressing the poor and devouring widows' houses. How strange that poor mortals could imagine thus to deceive God.

In verses 41-44 he tells us what he thinks of some poor oppressed widows and their gifts. Surely the Lord seeth not as man seeth; man looketh on the outward but the Lord looketh on the heart (1 Sam. 16:7). Think of the Lord valuing this widow's offering more than all the gifts of the rich.
Never speak of it as the widow's mite, for it was two mites and all that she had.

Sonbury, Pa., May 22.—Henry M.
Sallada, of Sacramento was convicted of first degree murder in the Northumberland County court today.
He was charged with killing William Schlegel of Johnson City. Schlegel was shot and killed on a mountain road near Shamokin and his pockets rifled.

William Sallada, brother of the convicted man, was at once put on trial for the same murder.
The Salladas are originally from the Rockton country and were apprehended in DuBois following the murder through the efforts of John M.
Bain, of the local Exemption Board.
They lobbed Al Dunlap's camp at Kennedy Park and he made them disgorge their plunder at the muzzle of a shot gun and also notified Mr. Bain of their whereabouts and he in turn notified the State police.
